Final Fishoff Slated In Yellowtail Derby

About all that remains in the 15th annual San Diego Yellowtail Derby is the final fishoff for a station wagon and other valuable prizes next Saturday, but everything points to a real display of competitive fire-works on that occasion.

The curtain dropped on the final week of qualifying Saturday, and a check shows that 489 anglers, including ties for last position in the weekly rounds, will be eligible for next Saturday's battle royal. Most of those already have indicated that they will be on the firing line.

Special award for taking the largest derby fish already has been salted away by John Etchandy, of Santa Ana, who bagged a 42 lb., 14 oz. albacore Aug. 28 from Steve Griffin's Sundown.

BECAUSE albacore now are too far off shore to maintain an accurate time schedule, Saturday's fishoff undoubtedly will be aimed at yellowtail alone and the Coronado Islands seem the logical setting. Indicating what is to be expected, the Islands are now packed with yellowtail but too many bonito and other fish make it difficult to get through to the yellows. However, 83 yellows were boated there Saturday on the final day of qualifying.

Top qualifying fish of the final derby week was a 31 lb. 2 oz. albacore caught by Gordon Jung, of San Diego, fishing from Art Seaman's Sable. Other top fish included: 30-6 albacore, D. S. Brodie, Chula Vista (Polaris); 29-12 albacore, Ray Nelson, Riverside (Sabre); 29-8 bluefin tuna, John Drusi, San Bernardino (New Mascot); 28-0 albacore, Bill Nunes, Chula Vista (Polaris).

Evening Sales Classes Begin For Area Adults

Registration is continuing in sales classes at Harbor College evening division, according to Edward Robings, chairman of the business division at the college.

The classes will feature showmanship, modern sales techniques and dynamic guest speakers.

Two classes are still open for enrollment. The evening class meets on Wednesday evenings from 8 to 10 p.m. The morning class, which emphasizes the selling of real estates, meets 7 to 9 a.m. on Monday mornings, which provides an opportunity for real estate salesmen in the community to attend.

GEORGE FISHER is instructing the day sales class in real estate. Fisher is not only a prominent realtor but is an outstanding real estate appraiser as well as one of the early developers of the Palos Verdes, Rolling Hills area. He has instructed many popular real estate classes at Harbor College.

The evening class is being taught by Patrick Koughan, who has had a varied background in sales and merchandising, including radio, television, magazine, insurance, mutual funds, advertising and public relations. He is a former west coast sales promotion and advertising manager of Westinghouse Electric Corp., radio television division.

HE IS the owner of a Los Angeles public relations firm offering financial consulting to corporations on mergers, acquisitions and public stock issues. Koughan was an evening instructor in salesmanship at the Metropolitan College of Business before joining the staff of Harbor College, evening division.

Registration for these two sales classes at Harbor College will continue through today. Applications and registration permits may be obtained at the college admissions office.
