Pattern, Fabric Show At May Co. South Bay

The May Co. South Bay will report to women who sew on the changing scene of fashion when they present their annual fall Vogue Fashion-Fabric Show, titled "Fashion's New Fluidity," on Monday, Sept. 25, at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on the fashion floor.

Commentating the fashion show of thirty-nine costumes will be Mrs. Pauline DeLano, Vogue Fashion Representative, who will also discuss wardrobe coordination.

The new fluidity encompasses versatility as well as silhouette. The silhouette news begins with flare and ends with fit.

The new range of color varies in intensity from the sparkling, lively sportswear shades to "powder box" evening complexion. Sportswear brights appear in dashing, unusual combination like red, grenadine and orange; bright green, orange, blue and black; orange with green.

For dancing, dining out, holiday parties, the "powder box" pastels are beautiful in crepes, satins, silks, mattelasses, and a spectrum of pink, peach, apricot, lime and powder blue. The lavish brights for formal occasions include fresh emerald, tourmaline pink, gold, "space" blue (a new light navy), and white in such spectacular textures as brocade, ottoman, taffeta, satin shantung, lace and shimmering lame.

For daytime, the revitalized suit assumes an important role. In a refreshing, youthful silhouette and unusual colors like muted orange, rose, pale green, suits look up-to-date, yet retain all the distinctive qualities associated with suit dressing.

One of the most spectacular evening looks is of shimmering imported gold lame in a full-length gown without one extraneous detail. The high front neckline drops to a deep v-back and the entire silhouette is dramatically narrow.
