... Ann Landers

Her big mistake was getting INTO IT.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm engaged to a lovely girl who is a rotten driver. She's 22 years old, was a brilliant student and seems very sensible—until she gets behind the wheel of a car. Then intelligence goes down to zero. How she ever got a driver's license I will never understand.

Her father refuses to let her have the family car because she has smashed it up three times. She begs to borrow my car on Saturday afternoons and I always weaken and say yes. She had a few minor scrapes but nothing serious.

She admits she's a poor driver but insists the only way to get better is to practice. She says I lack confidence in her, which is no lie. What's the answer?—DUTCH

Dear Dutch: She needs lessons. Insist that she enroll in a driving school and don't let her have your car until she gets a diploma. Her life is at stake, as well as the safety of innocent people.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage driving, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Driving," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Water puts fun in the sun in Southern California. Here water is much more than a vital part of public health, irrigation, industrial and commercial uses. Water creates recreation—a mountain lake, a swimming pool for the family or in a wading pool for the youngsters.

Truly, water puts fun in your summer. No other single commodity is so vital to your daily life as water.
