With American Embassy

Narbonne Grad Leaving Soon For Duty in Southeast Asia

Marlene McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McGee, will sail for duty at 23709 Vine Ave., will sail the American Embassy in Saigon, Vietnam. She is spending this week with her parents before departing for her post of assignment.

Marlene McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McGee, will sail for duty at 23709 Vine Ave., will sail the American Embassy in Saigon, Vietnam. She is spending this week with her parents before departing for her post of assignment.

"I'm looking forward to my post and to the trip," Miss McGee said. "In Honolulu, Tokyo, and Hong Kong, I will be seeing old friends, several of whom I met while working in SITA."

MISS McGEE said her only wardrobe problem in Saigon will be shoes.

"So I'm going prepared. I have 25 pairs of shoes to last me for my complete tour. Shoes are an item which take a beating in tropical climates."

Miss McGee is a graduate of Narbonne High School in Lomita and the California College of Commerce in Long Beach. At the time of her appointment to the Foreign Service Staff of the Department of State, she was secretary to the vice president of SITA World Travel Organization in Rancho Mirage. From early 1960 to late 1960, Miss McGee had been secretary to the vice president of the Sheraton Hotels in Hawaii.

MARLENE MCGEE
Going to Vietnam

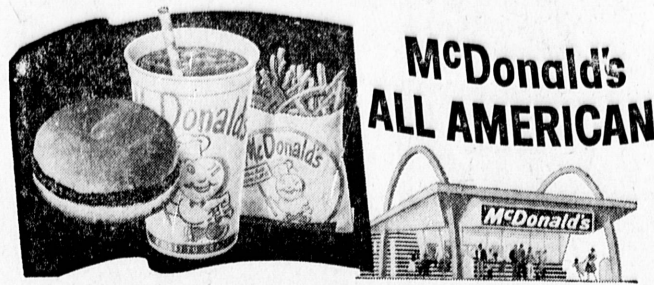

UPON HER arrival in Washington, D.C., in June, Miss McGee began a period of training in the Bureau of African Affairs of the Department of State. Her Washington assignment was capped by a three-week orientation course at the Foreign Service Institute in Arlington, Va., where new employees are familiarized with conditions they will encounter overseas, as well as with matters of protocol and diplomatic procedure.

In view of the continuing need for qualified personnel to serve as secretaries and clerks both overseas and in Washington, D.C., young people with office experience are urged to write the Employment Division, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C., for complete information about such positions.
