"How could he smell up the house, Mom? Dogs don't smoke!"

George Murphy, vice president of the Technicolor Corp., and often referred to as "Hollywood's busiest man" has accepted appointment as the Southern California general chairman for Brotherhood Week 1962. The official announcement was made by Walter N. Marks, general chairman of the Southern California Regional Board of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The 29th annual observance of Brotherhood Week will take place between Feb. 18 and 25 and is the time for the renewal and resolution to sustain brotherhood throughout the year.

IN ACCEPTING the chairmanship of the week, Murphy said,

"In this time of major conflict, people against people and nation against nation, Brotherhood Week takes on an added significance. We must rededicate ourselves to the task of eliminating fear and prejudice from our own land, for only by this means can we really deserve the title of 'leaders of freedom.'"

Murphy has had a long and distinguished career in Hollywood, going from a highly successful actor and star of more than 40 major pictures into the newly developed MGM-TV department and then in 1958 moving to Desilu as the executive in charge of public affairs, a position he held until joining Technicolor.

HIS LEADERSHIP in the movie industry has included positions as board member and president (three years) of the Screen Actors Guild; vice president and board member of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences (nine years); and board member of the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

Murphy is one of the founders of the Civic Auditorium and Music Center Assn. of Los Angeles. He is a member of the Television Festival Subcommittee of the Special Projects Division of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, and in 1960 became a member of the First International Assembly Executive Committee of the Academy.

MURPHY IS ALSO widely known and respected as a community leader serving on the boards of directors of such organizations as the Cancer Prevention Society of Los Angeles. He was also vice chairman for entertainment of the 1961 National American Red Cross Campaign, and a recipient of the National Conference's National Brotherhood Award.

Preparations for the Brotherhood Week campaign in the media field will get into high gear on Jan. 17 when the NCCJ will host its annual Brotherhood Week media luncheon in the Garden West Room of the Statler Hilton Hotel. All leaders in the communications field will be present to hear mass media honored for its contribution to the cause of better human understanding and brotherhood.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews is a civic and educational organization for the promotion of good will, justice, understanding and cooperation among people of all religions, races and national origins. The headquarters office for the Southern California Region is located at 3335 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 5. Dr. Jacob H. Cunningham is the executive director.

Marymount Coeds Claim Male Students 'Square'

Today's college men are conceded, immature, lazy, inconsiderate, unsophisticated, rude self-styled Loharios whose promises are as empty as those uttered by Khrushchev.

At least that's what the girls at Marymount college have to say about them in a poll which they conducted recently on their campus on the cliffs overlooking the ocean.

The poll was the project of Marymount social chairman Frances Bendi of New York City, and was triggered by a recent rash of articles in which the college men criticized the girls in everything from the way they applied their toenail polish to their coiffures.

"We've had enough of this sniping," they said. "They expect us to be quite little mice with no opinions of our own, while they themselves are appallingly immature."

In the all-important date department, they commented, "Why do so many of them think they're doing us a big favor when they ask us out, especially when they suggest a 'Dutch Treat'?"

"Why do they expect us to accept a date at the last moment, and then after they've seen us several times, take it for granted we're going steady?"

"Why don't they take dancing lessons? One in a hundred knows his way around the floor."

"Why does the fraternity man with a foreign speedster and a big allowance think he is the catch of the season? We aren't dating his wallet or his car."

"They call us 'cold fish' if we don't swoon over their masculine charms, and they find it difficult to comprehend that our main interest is a pleasant evening of companionship without getting serious."

In the academic field, the Marymount girls have little patience with the men who are not taking full advantage of their educational opportunities, and whose ideals of music and art are the newest jazz combo or the latest pin-up photo of Brigitte Bardot.

The girls also take them to task for their clothes: "Why do they relish in being so sloppy? They have no style sense whatever, and could take lessons in proper apparel from their fathers. Yet they always expect us to look like fashion plates."

One girl tersely commented, "Skinny-legged boys in Bermuda shorts—ugh!"

In personal traits, quite a few observed, "They lack ambition and are always looking for the easy way out. They are afraid to be individuals and seek security of the pack. They use the international situation as an excuse for being lazy."

One student, who made lengthy notes on the college lads' lack of good grooming, bluntly asked, "Why must their fingernails always be dirty?"

Most of the girls agreed on how to handle them: "Treat them like spoiled little boys. That's exactly what they are."
