

Ann Landers

advise you to leave, I won't. Just outfit yourself with a crash-helmet — and lotsa luck.

Dear Ann Landers: A girl who works in our office is getting a diamond soon. Her fiancé has asked her to go along with him to select it.

Isn't this in bad taste? It not only lets the girl know how much he pays for the ring but it also destroys the most romantic moment of a girl's life.

In my opinion an engagement ring should be a total surprise. Do you agree? — CAROL

Dear Carol: Wake up, Little Dreamer. The day has long passed when the young swain knelt in the parlour, whipped the ring out of his vest pocket, placed it on the maiden's finger — and the girl fainted from the excitement.

So what's wrong with a girl knowing how much her engagement ring cost? Some sensible girls want to go along to make sure the guy doesn't spend more than he should. And since it's the gal who will be wearing the ring, doesn't it seem reasonable that she should go along and make sure she gets something she truly likes?

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request $2 in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Copyright 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.
