

Final Showing Set For 'Auntie Mame'

By BETTY SCHROEDER
 With the final performances of "Auntie Mame" coming this weekend, Chapel Theatre located at 4164 Pacific Coast Hwy. in Smith Bros. Fish Shanty shopping center) reluctantly brings to a close nine weeks of hilarious enjoyment for audiences and cast alike.
 More than 2,100 people have seen this production, not including the last weekend performances. There are still some seats available for Friday and Saturday, and it is strongly recommended that reservations be made so as not to miss this delightful show.

 FROM THE opening to the closing curtain, the cast runs a steady stream of sparkling dialogue, with each character portrayed in an individually convincing nature. The sets, designed by Steve Sands and Grover Palmer, with murals painted by Robert Pierman, are most effective and add much color and glamour to the already glamorous and colorful "Auntie Mame," played by Thelma Ledwidge of Torrance. Director Bob McCaman and Producer Don Gish, both of Palos Verdes, are gratified for the tremendous response to this long-running play and particularly related their appreciation of the very cooperative and talented cast, many of whom set aside other commitments in order to fulfill the public's demand to see "Auntie Mame."

DUE TO THE fact that there are commitments which must be met by both the casts of "Auntie Mame" and the next production, "Streetcar Named Desire," Chapel Theatre must bring this production to a reluctant close.
 So we bid farewell to "Auntie Mame" and all her many friends, antics, and costumes, as the show must go on—and go on it will, when Director Fred West opens "March 2, Friday through Sunday for a four-week engagement of "Streetcar Named Desire." Reservations may be made for both performances by calling Box Office FR 2-9636 or FR 8-9017 evenings.

 TO THE MANY who have inquired about the oil paintings which are exhibited in Chapel Theatre auditorium, co-producers Don Gish and Steve Sands announce that this weekend will be, the final showing of Mrs. Dale Brent Sexton's colorful paintings. Mrs. Sexton is in charge of the Cooperative Artist Work Shop at 27715 Silver Spur Road, Rolling Hills, where she conducts classes and exhibits art work. It will be the policy of the theater to bring more art exhibits during the run of all future plays.

 "Americans seem to like foreign movie stars regardless of sex, which is not a bit easy to be regardless of." — E. L. Holmlund, Argyle (Minn.) Marshall County Banner.
