New Huki Lau Opens In August

A bit of exotic Polynesia will invade the Southwest next month when the Thunderbird International Hotel opens the doors of the Huki Lau, a restaurant specializing in South Sea dishes.

The new eatery will seat more than 100 in the dining room. A Polynesian decor is featured throughout the large A-frame building, and native materials from the south sea islands is used exclusively.

The restaurant was designed by Robert A. Mavis and utilizes 3,000 square feet of floor space. An artificial rainfall is spotlighted behind the bar, which will specialize in exotic rum drinks.

The Huki Lau — party in Hawaiian — is an addition to the hotel's present facilities. Other dining and dancing rooms are open now from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m.
