

With the opening of schools in Torrance less than six weeks away, Chief of Police Percy Bennett this week urged a concerted effort to protect school-age youngsters from traffic hazards.

net said, rests with every citizen of the city, but especially with the parents of young children.

PARENTS SHOULD take time to teach their children the basic rules of safety. Bennett

- listed the 10 rules as:
1. Obey traffic rules, signs, lights, officers, and school safety patrols.
  2. Cross the street only at intersections.
  3. Look both ways before crossing any street.

4. Watch for turning cars at intersections.
5. Don't walk between parked cars.
6. WALK ON the left, facing traffic, where there are no sidewalks.
7. Use extra caution on foggy and rainy days.
8. If the child rides a bicycle, ride in single file and do not weave in and out of traffic.
9. Play only in designated areas on the school lot. Never go into the street.
10. Teach your child that his or her safety is your greatest concern.

In addition to these 10 safety rules, the Chief warned parents who pick up their children at school to always park on the school side of the street and never double park.
