

Classes for Retarded Children Begin Sept. 17

Fall classes at the Harbor Area Retarded Children's Foundation will begin Sept. 17, representatives of the foundation announced this week.

Entrance interviews are now being conducted at the school, 2520 Signal St., San Pedro. Interviews will continue through Sept. 14. Parents may make an appointment by calling Terminal 1-1211.

Mrs. Ruth Zelinsky is the new executive director of the school. She holds a doctor's degree in her field.

MRS. ZELINSKY will interview parents of mongoloid, cerebral palsy, neurological, and emotionally handicapped children who are unacceptable in the public schools.

Mrs. Evelyn Roebaugh will head the staff of accredited teachers at the school.

In addition to its normal curriculum, the school will include classes in speech therapy, swimming, and some field trips. A hot lunch program is also maintained by the school.

SERVING ON the advisory committee which will make monthly surveys of the needs of enrolled children are dentists, psychologists, medical and Tuition at the school is $9 per week, plus 35 cents each day for lunch. A $7.50 membership fee is also payable.

Getting Turned Down Is Great Compliment

By Count Marco

A woman complained to me about the remarks made by a television personality. She writes: "I guess I could never get on his program, because I have a nice figure, am 33, and my looks are better than my voice."

"Please excuse the crumpled appearance of the enclosed clipping. I was so furious when I read it I tore it out rather violently. Am I wrong?"

She referred to the man's remarks that women over 40 make the best program contestants because they have more confidence.

"Plump girls are better than skinny ones, and a good voice is better than good looks," he said. "The worst are the women in their 20s and 30s when they're plagued with insecurities."

He summed it all up by saying: "The best contestant of all is the one who is plump, with big eyes and a full mouth."

It is easy to understand why the writer of the letter was upset, but she needn't have been. One look at the kind of program he conducts should have evened her blood pressure and actually left her feeling flattered that she wouldn't make it in this fellow's book.

The program to which she referred is notorious for providing innumerable opportunities for you American women to make public fools of yourselves — and my, how many of you do take advantage of those opportunities!

Also, no matter what he says, women of all ages, degrees of fatness and pitch of voice undergo a horrible and perplexing change when that TV camera is focused on them. And as my aunt the Contessa always says, "No prize is big enough, no price high enough, to compensate a woman for the loss of femininity through making a public spectacle of herself."

So, my dears, don't feel upset or annoyed that you don't have the years, face or voice for some television shows. After all, the description of the best contestant of all, "plump, with big eyes and a full mouth" also applies to a cow, and any woman who wants to compete publicly with a cow does so at her own risk. Mooooooo.

Stored Car In Flames

Fire broke out Tuesday night in a car stored at the Van Ling Storage Garage, 20341 S. Hawthorne Ave.

Witnesses nearby told police they heard what they thought was an explosion, looked towards the storage yard where they saw two youths run west-bound on Garnet Street.

The fire was in a 1959 model sedan registered to Glen H. Walker of Las Vegas, Nev. Officers at the scene were unable to determine the cause of the blaze which started about 11:15 p.m.
