YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

'No Bearing on Sense or Nonsense'

Dear Ann Landers: Now that most people have had their vacations I'd like to ask if you think my husband and I are crazy—or is it the rest of the world?

Almost everyone we know takes a two or three week vacation during the summer. They work like dogs all year long and look forward to that glorious time when they can forget about the alarm clock and take life easy.

So, what do they do? They plan a motor trip and drive 3,000 miles with the kids and the dog in the back seat. Naturally they come home exhausted.

Others try to see the whole world in 18 days. The major part of their so-called vacation is spent packing, unpacking, soaking their feet in hot water, rinsing out things in a basin the size of a bird bath and sleeping on lumpy mattresses in third-class hotels. They come home half-dead, but armed with 350 color slides of "their trip."

My husband and I don't take a summer vacation—we are weekenders. Every Saturday morning we take off for some small town within driving distance. We shop, bowl a few games, have a good dinner and sleep at a fine motel. We loaf in the sun, meet nice people and get home Sunday evening, refreshed.

When vacation time comes we stay home and do the general repair work on our home. Which plan makes the most sense to you?—V.L.

Dear V. L.: This is purely a matter of choice and has no bearing on sense or nonsense. Frequent short vacations are ideal for a childless couple. Larger families are better off to take the long haul.

Dear Ann Landers: I have two daughters - in-law who have not spoken to each other for three years. The fuss was over their children. The nephew of one daughter-in-law was married last week. I received an invitation to the wedding. I accepted and had a fine time. Now the other daughter-in-law refuses to speak to me because I attended the wedding. She claims I should not have accepted the invitation because she didn't get one. Her husband (who is my son) says she's dead wrong but she accuses him of sticking up for me out of duty. Please give me your opinion.—GLADYS.

Dear Gladys: Obviously you were under no obligation to turn down the invitation because your daughter-in-law didn't receive one. She is behaving childishly and if you pay any attention to this com-

'Western Roundup' At St. Andrew's Oct. 20

Women of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church are busy on their annual all-day "Western Roundup" to be held Saturday, Oct. 20, on the parish grounds, 1430 Engracia Ave. All persons attending the event are asked to wear western attire. Activities will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 8 p.m.

Mrs. Adam Krauszer is serving as general chairman of the event. Committee chairmen are Mmes. Ted Whisnand, queen contest; James L. Harmon, dinner; A. C. Turner, finance; Kathy Faller, Young People Fellowship, snack booth, sponge throw, and horse shoes.

Others are Mmes. Hugh Percy, music; Ralph Davis, publicity; Robert Hollister, decorations; Auburn Atkins, chairman, Girls Friendly Society, cake walk; and Mrs. Ralph Sprout, silent movies. A special feature will be the Queen Contest with the crowning to take place at 2 p.m.

During the day, events will include games, consisting of corral-lasso, gun-rifle range, horse shoes, darts, ring toss and checkers. There will be a country store, cake booth, Christmas decorations, church plaques and plates, a bargain table, white elephants, cake walk, jams and jellies booth, canned goods, and penny toss.

There will also be a snack bar and snow cones, hot dogs, coffee, root beer. Handmade articles will be on sale and an auction is planned. Fun for the day includes the showing of silent movies.

All guilds are participating including St. Anne, St. Cecilia, St. Margaret, St. Mary Magdalene, St. Veronica and St. Theresa.

Members of the St. Cecilia Guild will sponsor the delicious chuck wagon dinner. Mrs. Robert Sleeth is handling the ticket sales for the dinner. Tickets may be secured from any member of the St. Cecilia Guild. A special price is being offered for children under 12 years.

The public as well as all members of St. Andrew's are invited to attend the "Western Roundup."

Connie Phillips, Future Bride, Is Complimented

Miss Connie Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Phillips will become the bride of Larry Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walker on Nov. 4 at the First Methodist Church in Torrance.

The future bride was complimented at a linen shower recently given by Mrs. Kenneth McKinley with Mrs. Lee Allen as co-hostess.

Table centerpiece was a yellow umbrella over a floral arrangement of yellow and mint green flowers. A crystal candelabra, holding yellow and green candles, flanked the crystal punch bowl and silver service on the table.

Also on the table was a yellow and green decorated cake inscribed with the names of the couple.

On her arrival, the honoree was presented with a white corsage. Games were played with prizes going to Miss Barbara Wilson and Mmes. Frank Curry and Don Duncan.

Under a yellow sprinkling can, showering colored streamers, the bride-elect opened her gifts.

Two bridesmaids, Miss Gwen Pattishall and Miss Barbara Wilson assisted with serving.

Attending the party were Mmes. John Homolka, Phyrne Laughon, Lolly Ahrens, Charles Howard, Joe Clark, Don Duncan, Lloyd Daniels, Howard Walker, Jim Harmon, Walter Donaher, Marlin Modeland, Forrest Cato, Don Bunting, Ray Wilson, Frank Curry, Thomas Pattishall.
