to relatives and friends and sign the card jointly. Is this considered correct? Thank you in advance for your answer.—HIM AND HER

Dear Him and Her: Sorry it is not considered correct for engaged people to send a gift "jointly." He should send something on his own, and so should you.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter has become obsessed with the idea of having her nose remodeled. She is 17, a fine student, and normally a sensible girl.

Please believe me there is nothing wrong with Bessie's nose. It goes with her face. I've tried to point out to her that some of the most famous and successful people in history have had prominent features. Their faces had character and impact. People remembered them.

Four girls in Bessie's crowd have had their noses done. This is where she got the idea. All their noses look like they came out of the same mold. I'm afraid the operation will destroy her individuality. What do you say?—Q.T.

Dear Q.T.: It's not what I say, or what you THINK that counts. It's how Bessie feels that matters.

If she is wildly eager, give her your blessings. The nose may make her look less individual, but it could do wonders for her morale.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Kneeling and Petting—And How Far to Go," enclosing with your request 20¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dinner Guest
