Garden Checklist

1. When you Christmas shop this year, remember the flower-loving friend. Azaleas, cyclamen, heathers are all in bloom now.
2. Spring-flowering bulbs should be planted without delay. Supply is shorter on these than it was in October but a good variety of daffodils and tulips is still available.
3. Scatter small pellets in flower beds and borders to combat the new brood of slugs and snails this month.
4. For unusual winter color, try planting Christmas Rose. It blooms from near the end of December into spring.
5. Order new roses early to insure getting the varieties you want.
