Earnings Reported At Ryan

Sales of $72.5 million and earnings of approximately $3.2 million will be reported by Ryan Aeronautical Co., San Diego, for the 1962 fiscal year which ended Oct. 31, Robert C. Jackson, president, said. These results will compare with sales of $89.4 million and earnings of $3.3 million for the year-earlier period. Based on shares outstanding at the year end (computed after retirement of treasury shares purchased by the company during the year and adjusted for stock dividends), per share earnings will be approximately $1.78 for both the 1962 and 1961 fiscal years. The company's annual report to stockholders is now in preparation and will be distributed about Jan. 16, company officials said.

Firm Names New Manager

William C. McLoughlin has been appointed manager of advance projects for Marshall Laboratories in Torrance, a subsidiary of Marshall Industries. McLoughlin comes from Del Mar Engineering Laboratories, Los Angeles, where he was chief of research. Prior to Del Mar, he was chief of research at Hayes International Corp., Birmingham, Ala. At Marshall Laboratories, McLoughlin's function will include responsibility for advance projects marketing activities not presently handled by the existing marketing organization.

REDUCES SOUND

The plastering industry has made tremendous strides in the development of acoustical plaster treatments aimed at reducing sound to a point where it will no longer be disturbing to industrial plant workers.

McLoughlin holds a degree from Catholic University of America and is a candidate for a Masters Degree at Georgetown University. He is a member of the American Physical Society, the Institute of the Aerospace Sciences, the American Geophysical Union, the American Ordnance Assn., the National Aviation Club and the National Aeronautical Assn. He holds several patents and is the author of several books and papers. His engineering specialties are infrared, kinetic phenomena, optics, wind tunnel instrumentation, operational studies of missile systems and weapon systems.

Area Road Demands To Double

Demands on Los Angeles County's lifeline — its 17,000 miles of streets and highways — will be more than doubled within the next 20 years, Supervisor Burton W. Chace declared this week. Each day, more than 3.5 million vehicles carry nearly 6.5 million people over streets which by 1980 must be sufficient for 12 million residents and 7 million vehicles, Chace asserted.

THE FOURTH District Supervisor, for the past six years chairman of the Board of Supervisor's Road Committee, emphasized that the Board is pledged to continue its program of providing a safe, modern system of highways to meet growing needs.

"Los Angeles County was the first County in the nation to adopt a regional Master Plan of Highways; and we fully intend to continue this leadership in highway planning," Chace stated.

"Even with the Freeway system slated for completion by 1980, it is estimated that twice the number of cars and trucks will be using surface streets by that time."

"IN OTHER WORDS, Rosecrans Avenue, Wilshire Boulevard, Western Avenue, Imperial Highway, Sunset Boulevard and other arterial streets will carry two automobiles for every one on the road today," Chace said. "This type of congestion will lead to traffic havoc unless we continue our street and roadway program at an increased pace," Supervisor Chace warned.

"Indirectly, we pay for good roads whether we have them or not. If we are to progress and develop our economy, our industry must be sound and able to compete in world markets."

"It is imperative that we provide highway facilities which will further these objectives," the Supervisor added.

CITING RECENT biennial report figures prepared by Road Commissioner N. H. Templin, Supervisor Chace pointed out that more than 115 miles of roads were designed at a contract value of $23 million, and 95 miles of road construction completed at a cost of $18 million.

To facilitate traffic flow, 105 traffic signals were installed in unincorporated areas, not including 98 highway lighting districts and 77 lighting maintenance districts under County jurisdiction.

Declaring that Southern California's population area is the world's first industrial complex based upon highway transport, Supervisor Chace said the County intends to keep its road building program geared to peak efficiency to keep pace with increasing demands on Los Angeles County's vital traffic grid.
