

Jefferson's View On Government's Role Still Best

By CHARLES E. CHAPEL Assemblyman, 46th District

Thomas Jefferson, the auth or of the Declaration of Inde or or the Declaration of Inde-pendence, was born in 1743 and died in 1826. He was the third President of the United States of America and served two four-year terms, from 1801 to 1809.

He believed that the federal government should do nothing unless the states could not do the job. He believed that the states should do nothing that could be done by local governties. He also believed that the government should do nothing at any level if the private cit-izen could do it for himself.

THIS IS an over simplifica-tion of the principles of Thom-as Jefferson but this statement that "big brother knows best." Democrats believe in the prin-ciples of Thomas Jefferson and follow them whenever they are the Nazi government of Hitler, follow them whenever they are given an opportunity to vote for or against candidates or issues. Most Republicans in the past have followed the same philos-ophy, and many Republicans today have the same ideas. Per-sonally, I believe in and try to follow the principles of Thom-as Jefferson except that I do not believe he knew how to organize or run the United States Navy. On that issue, and that issue only, I disagree with that issue only, I disagree with Thomas Jefferson.

A N D R E W JACKSON was born in 1767 and died in 1845. He is famous as the general who defeated the best troops the British had at the Battle of New Orleans and did it with assembled from a great variety of sources, including pirates. The fact that he had won the battle after the treaty of peace with the British had been signed was not his fault be-cause in those days communica-tion was much slower. He for a great warety with the British had been signed was mot his fault be-cause in those days communica-tion was much slower. BETWEEN the end of Jef-ferson's career as President in 1809 and the beginning of Jackson's service m 1829, there was a gap of about 20 years during which time the presiduring which time the presi-dents of the United States were southern advocates who did not attempt to follow the prin-ciples of Thomas Jefferson. Those presidents tended to follow the principles of Alex-ander Hamilton, a great law-yer and statesman who was born in 1757 and died in 1804. Hamilton had no confidence in Hamilton had no confidence in the majority of the people. He thought that the President of the United States should be a tion of advanced formal educa-tion who would control the lives of all Americans from the womb to the tomb and do it from Washington, D. C.

In other words, he believed that "big brother knows best."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN did not go to college. In all his life, which began in 1809 and ended when he was assassinated in 1865, he had less than nine Save enough of your ham this week to make up a large casserole dish of HAM FRIED RICE, one of those "one-dish" meals that needs only a salad to complete it. Cook I cup plus 2 tablespoons raw rice until tender, in boiling salted water. (Use only the long grain variety.) Drain well and let it dry, then set aside until later. In a large skillet heat ¼ cup cooking oil, then add ½ cup chopped green onion, ¼ cup sliced mushrooms, I cup shredded ham, cut in fine strips, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 2 teaspoons minced red pimiento, 1/2 cup blanched slivered almonds and 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Saute lightly, but do not brown. Add the cooked rice to the skillet and allow to cook slowly about 6 minutes, stirring well so flavors will blend. Turn to very low heat. (Taste for salt, since you may wish to add more than the soy sauce will furnish.) In another small skillet heat lightly 2 teaspoons salad oil, then your in 2 beaten eggs. Cook as if making a flat pancake, turning once. When dry, cut in thin strips and mix lightly through the rice mixture. Remove the hot rice to a casserole dish and sprinkle with 2 teespoons finely minced chives or tender green onion tops. Serve hot. Makes & portions.

In addition, he was a true themselves this love of people is the basic reason for his elec-tion as 16th President of the United States in 1861, and his re-election four years later. This love of people was sensed by those who volunteered to serve in the armed forces dur-ing the Civil War.

ONE OF MY grandfathers, at the age of 17, wrote in his diary: "Today I joined Mr. Lin-coln's Army. He is one of us." Now in this year of our Lord, 1963, we are engaged in a great cold war. The outcome of which will determine whether we are free men and women or slaves.

Reverently, humbly, from my heart and mind, I ask you to join all good Americans in a prayer to give us in 1964, a Jackson, or Lincoln, but not an Alexander Hamilton!
