

$1 Million Deposited in Local Pacific State Bank

Pacific State Bank's new Torrance office established just 90 days ago, has already reached $1 million in deposits, President R. C. Yeary announced yesterday.

The branch has grown faster in a shorter span than any of Pacific State's other Southwest offices when they were first completed, Yeary said. Previous record was held by the Bank's Windsor Hills office, established in 1960, which reached the $1 million mark in its first six months of operation.

Torrance Manager Keith Pischel attributes his office's fine record to the continued high growth of the Torrance area coupled with a ready acceptance of personal banking services offered by Pacific State.

Said Pischel: "We knew that the Torrance area was a fertile territory for a local independent community bank. It was a question of providing the proper services in an atmosphere conducive to individual and commercial financing."

Pischel praised his Torrance office personnel for their part in reaching the financial milestone stating that their continued attention to customer requests and requirements aided substantially in causing acceptance of Pacific State Bank.

Pischel noted that a full range of banking services are readily available to residents of Torrance and surrounding areas at the bank located in the Carson Shopping Center, Normandie Ave., and Carson Street.

Center to Feature 'Song Without End'

The film "Song Without End" will be shown at the Torrance Recreation Center, 3341 Torrance Blvd., 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Because of the anticipated interest in this two-hour film, a second showing is scheduled for the meeting room of the center to begin at 8:30 p.m.

These films of the Los Angeles County Museum film circuit are presented in cooperation with the Torrance Recreation Department and are shown to the public without charge.

"Song Without End" is the story of the life of Franz Liszt, filmed by Charles Vidor and completed after his death by George Cukor. The film portrays the conflict of normal family life, respectability, and success versus the creative drive, poverty, and misunderstanding.

The life of Liszt provides the film with a variant—a virtuoso triangle: a career as Europe's greatest performing pianist, a desire to compose (when inspired by a beautiful Russian princess), and a pledge to become a priest.

The music is from Liszt, Wagner, Chopin, Bach, Paganini, Handel, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Verdi, and Schumann.

Win Tournament

Senior class members Nadine Davis and Marilyn Byrd were winners of the annual benefit bridge tournament held at Marymount College.

Know Your Traffic Laws

Prepared in cooperation with the Traffic Education Bureau of the Torrance Police Department

Many times the first persons at the scene of a traffic accident make a serious mistake, but seldom are they aware of what they have done.

Persons arriving at the scene of an accident oftentimes attempt to move the injured person or persons into what they believe will be a more comfortable position. In so doing, they many times add to the injuries the victim has received.

IN MOST CASES, the person or persons moving the injured fail to check first and determine what type of injuries the victim has sustained, and to determine if moving the victim will compound those injuries. Many times a simple fracture in a leg or an arm can be worsened by improper movement. A fractured rib may cause more internal damage while the victim is being moved if proper care is not exercised.

A check with several doctors indicates an injured person is far better off to be left alone until proper aid is received. Rather than attempting to move the injured, many doctors suggest that a few words of encouragement to the injured might be of more help until trained assistance arrives, and is much safer for the injured person.

EMERGENCY service such as police, fire, or ambulance is only minutes away once the call for help has been received.

Following are suggestions recommended for those who arrive in the scene of a traffic accident prior to the arrival of such service where injured persons are involved:

- Make certain that help has been summoned.
- Control excessive bleeding by using a clean cloth and applying a little direct pressure over the wound.
- Give the injured person or persons a few words of encouragement and assure them that help is on the way.
- In the event power lines or other such hazards exist, alert others to the hazards and attempt to keep bystanders away.
- Keep calm — don't become emotional. Be as much help as you can until assistance arrives.

WHEN YOU ARE calling for the police department to request help, be certain to give the following information:

- Where the accident is located, using intersections by names of the streets or street address when appropriate.
- Number of persons injured, whether ambulance will be needed, if fire equipment is needed, or if other emergency services are required, such as electric or gas company crews.
- When calling for help remain calm. Valuable time can be lost if the caller is excited and difficult to understand.

I shall never permit myself to stoop so low as to hate any man.—Booker T. Washington.
