Nuclear Test Ban Eases Some Cold War Tensions

imprecise terms, imbiguities and loopholes . . even with its nuclear limitations even with the possibility that the Communists may violate . the nuclear test ban is a least a psychological respite for a war-weary world.

On the credit side will end most radioactive con-tamination. It will save us a lot of money. It will widen the gap between the two Com-munist giants. It could lead to the easing of other East-West tensions.

It permits us to continue testing underground to maintain our research technology.
The "escape clause" will serve us too, in the event of double-cross through or by Red China, who undoubtedly will soon explode a nuclear experiment of her own.

And probably most import-ant, it will bring a sigh of re-lief throughout the world that the two major nuclear powers are resorting to rea-son rather than Russian-roul-

A major danger of the test ban is that Russia deliberately refused a similiar U.S. proposal by President Eisenhow-er until she tested a nuclear bomb in the 100-megaton range, far in excess of anything in our arsenal.

☆ ☆ ☆ President Kennedy's confidence that we are ahead in the quantity of nuclear bombs clear experts say the number of bombs is not as important after the first 10 are dropped by either side.

But the size is . . . for the destructive power carried by Soviet planes, some of which are bound to penetrate our protective cover, with 100 megaton bombs, is terrifying even to contemplate in the event of war.

Our failure to bring France into the agreement could wreck the treaty soon after it becomes effective, for Russia is bound to use the "escape clause" when France tests, as De Gaulle has assured she will.

The President's reassurance that tests in the atmosphere and under water can always be detected is not supported by some prominent scientists who say that it is not foolproof.
But the major objection to be overcome is the nation's deep-rooted mistrust of Russia and communism.

On October 22 last, President Kennedy in his solemn announcement of the Cuba quarantine called Khrushchev a liar for denying in writing the existence of Soviet rockets in Cuba.

During the same nation-wide telecast the president accused Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko, one of the three treaty negotiators, of person

Honestly, you won't believe where I've been. But I've been trekking through the heart of Darkets Africa, driven ever onward by the inner certainly that somewhere in the primordial vastness must thrive a tribe of fabled White Apes. Not ordinary run-of-the-mill fabled White Apes, mind you, but White Protestant Middle-Class Apes.

No boyhood reader of Mr. Edgar Rice Burroughs could believe otherwise. What else, we boyhood readers ask, could have transpired in these many decades since last we left Tarzan all alone in the jungle with Jane? And Cheeta.

And yet many burning questions remain to be an swered-the mist burning of all being the one we Western visitors to Africa always ask: Would these indigenous natives prove ready for self-government?

So, oh, how my heart leapt up when my sturdy native samba rounded a bend in the tortuous Lumumba and there at long last lay the Lost City of The Greystoke Tribeseveral hundred ranch-style homes with patios and picture windows plus a large billboard reading: "Welcome to New Tarzana Acres, Restricted Lots, Low Dn. Payments to Vets."

Stepping cautiously ashore, my trusty .0006 Mouser at the ready, I was greeted by a distinguished-looking Ape in Bermuda shorts, a Hawaiian sport shirt and dark glasses.

"You are unbelievable!" I cried. "My name." said the Ape coldly, "Is Dr. Billie Sol Livingstone. And you pre-

I apoloized, and Dr. Livingstone, after selling me a split-level ranch house and 12 tons of non-existent fertilseemed mollified. Indeed, he kindly explained the weird system of government these White Protestant Middle-Class Apes have somehow evolved. As you might suspect, it's

"We have," he began, "two deities: Gop, the great white elephant, and Dem, the braying jackass. The followers of each are irreconcilable foes on every issue."

Gop and Dem differ widely, then? "Completely," he said, "depending on which is in charge. If Dem rules, Gop is against everything Dem does. Then, when Gop takes over, it continues Dem's program, over, of course, the violent opposition of the followers of Dem." I asked why. Dr. Livingstone seemed puzzled. "How else," he said,

"could preserve our traditional two-diety system?"

Amazing I said, And how was the tribal leader chosen? "Basically," he said, "it depends on which Ape has the most coconuts." Was wealth the only criterion? "Holy Edgar, no!" said Dr. Livingstone. "To occupy the White Hut, an Ape must also have good teeth, a firm handshake and waivy hair on his chest. A large and loyal family also helps. It saves squabbling over Cabinet posts.

I asked what all these qualities had to do with leadership. "With what?" said Dr. Livingstone?

Well, I know it will come as a shock to all boyhood readers to learn that the heirs of noble Tarzan have descended to an unbelievably weird culture life with corruption, demagoguery, and oligarchical tendencies. But we must manfully do our duty as representatives of our high Western civilization and reluctantly rule that these poor, backward apes are far from ready for self government. Oh, I know this decision will cause trouble. It always does. And sometimes I think maybe we ought to lay down our burden of higher wisdom and let anybody who wants to govern himself do so. On the gornuds that he deserves I Used To Be A Chef-

Clubhouse Pact Gets County O.K.

AUGUST 8, 1963

Award of a contract for construction of the Los Verdes Golf Course clubhouse has been made to Collins & Mc-Pherson, Inc., by the Board of Supervisors. The contract was awarded on a low bid of $459,639.

Actual signing of the con-tract agreement will be done by the Los Angeles County Employes Retirement Assn., whichis financing the project.

The contract provides for the construction of a club-house with facilities for a concession area, coffee shop, din-ing room for 240 persons, and banquet room.

A professional golf shop, locker rooms, starter booth, and storage facilities are also included. The building, a onestory structure, will contain about 18.100 square feet.
