Navy Lt. (j.g.) Jeffrey A. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hart Carr of 1544 Marcelina Ave., visited Inmir, Turkey, recently aboard the guided missile frigate USS MacDonough.

The MacDonough is operating with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean. The Sixth Fleet is the major element of American seapower in the European area. It is composed of 50 ships and 25,000 men.

Peter P. Pepe, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Frances M. Pepe of 24069 Neece Ave., recently reported for duty aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ticonderoga while the ship was operating with the Seventh Fleet in the Far East.

Donald D. Sayre, son of Mrs. Naomi E. McKanna of 1885 Crenshaw Blvd., and Jay P. McFall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McFall of 22703 Kathryn Ave., completed recruit training July 5 at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Marine Pvt. Kenneth F. Gorman, son of Mrs. Regina R. Ryan of 17114 Glenburn Ave., recently reported for duty with the Third Marine Aircraft Wing at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana.

Marine L/Cpl. Robert E. Tenold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon C. Tenold of 202 E. 227th St., is a recent graduate of the Nuclear, Biological and Chemical Defense School at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana.

Army Sp/4 Dale L. Hilliard, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hilliard, 21024 New Hampshire Ave., received The Air Medal in ceremonies in Vietnam, in late July.

Specialist Hilliard received the award for meritorious achievement while participating in at least 25 aerial combat missions in support of the ground forces of the Republic of Vietnam.

Hilliard, an aircraft maintenance specialist in the U. S. Army Support Group in Vietnam, entered the Army in October 1960.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1958 graduate of Hawthorne High School.

Don't Hope for the 'Second Time Around'

by Count Marco

What are your chances of a successful second marriage after divorce? "Excellent," claims Walter Winter, a young divorce attorney, who has just written a book on that subject, titled "Divorce and You," published by the Crowell Collier Press.

For a mere $2.95 it could save you years of agony, by preventing you, through sheer fright, from becoming one of those poor millions of single women staggering through life with only an electric blanket for a bed partner.

I particularly liked his opening words: "Divorce is usually thought of as something that only happens to other people... but the fact is one out of every four marriages in this country ends in divorce."

According to Winter, though, there is hope; the odds are better than 95 to 1 that you will remarry, and that the second ride on the marriage-go-round will be successful for these particular reasons: The replacement will be considered upon sound values rather than impulse. And you will work harder at making the second venture a success.

However, don't go rushing out into the street thinking that by merely flagging down the nearest male you can get that hungry look of the hunter out of your eye just like that. It's not that easy or simple.

You have some monumental problems, says Winter. First, as a divorcee you're older than at the time of your first marriage. You compete against single girls who have a backlog of boy friends, impressive wardrobes and no responsibilities.

"The single girl," writes Winter, "presents a picture of virtue and chastity. The divorcee is branded as fast and experienced." Well, now, I wouldn't say all that.

Divorcees, from my experience, may be a little over-eager at times, but I couldn't call them all fast, any more than I can truthfully picture today's crop of youngsters as chaste.

Obstacles in the path of the second husband hunt include the fact that because you are older, the number of eligible males is diminished.

And if you have children, they are big pebbles in that rocky road to the altar. Men are reluctant to assume the burden of a ready-made family, and, in addition, their relatives disapprove.

Your worries before snapping the trap shut are: Will he want to favor his and your children over yours and your ex's? Will your children respect him?

All this adds up to the fact that you should take care of the man you have and not add wrinkles from taking on a new one.
