

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

"Nothing Is Without Price"

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to respond to "Voice of Experience." I agree there are thousands, maybe millions of husbands who are warming their feet at firesides other than their own. These men did not marry thinking they would one day wind up with a mistress. They were frozen at home and they were weary of complaints and excuses — headaches, backaches, exhaustion, etc. Or they simply became bored.

I am the mistress of such a man. Naturally, I'd rather be his wife but since this is out of the question I'm settling for second best — and it's not bad. Our affair began 11 years ago and the fact that it has survived is evidence that each of us contributes something worthwhile to the other.

So look around, wives. Has your unresponsiveness made your husband cold and indifferent? Has he stopped begging you for favors? Is it YOUR husband that I have? If you listen to your heart it will tell you. — NO NAME, NO INITIALS, NO CITY

Dear No Name, etc.: That's what YOU think. You have a name all right but this newspaper wouldn't print it.

All cheaters have a peachy excuse. Nothing is without its price—as you may well discover almost any day now.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm dating a very bright fellow who is 21 years old and has a lot of potential, if only he could overcome a few minor faults.

Bernie is sort of a crusader. He has strong feelings about certain things and is very outspoken. I admire this quality in him even though my father says he is a goof.

Bernie has been asked to leave two colleges because he expressed himself a little too freely and ended up exchanging blows with people. If he could just control his temper he would be fine.

Yesterday he was fired from his third job because he got into a fight with his supervisor. He lost the other two jobs pretty much the same way.

I would like to marry Bernie some day but I'm afraid to take a chance on a fellow who may never be able to stand on his own two feet. Can you help? — SHAKELY SHIRLEY

Dear Shirley: It's very difficult for a fellow to stand on his own two feet when one foot is always in his mouth.

Bernie may be bright, but if he winds up "expressing himself" by slugging people, he is still a child. He may need professional help since it is apparent that his emotional development was arrested at an adolescent level.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to add my two-cents worth to "Dover Soles" — the couple who were irritated by neighbors who refused to accept even one drink at a social get-together.

Like you, Ann, I'm a stuffy, rock-headed type who can't be coaxed into having a drink. Furthermore, I don't feel the need to carry a decoy in my hand. I've noticed that the people who are moderate drinkers are content to leave us non-drinkers alone. It's the lushes who always try to force liquor on others. When people become too insistent I tell them I've never met a man with so many brains that he could have part of them paralyzed. After that they leave me pretty much alone.—DRY AND HAPPY

Dear Dry and Happy: Thanks for the letter and the line. I know what you mean about "paralyzed brains." It's a sad sight. And the better the brain the sadder the sight.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (C) 1963, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate.

MRS. ROBERT LEE COMPBER . . . Former Barbara Bakerbower (Hanson's Studio)

Torrance New Home For Mr., Mrs. R. L. Compber

First Methodist Church in Redondo Beach was the setting Saturday afternoon, Aug. 3, for the wedding of Miss Barbara Jean Bakerbower and Robert Lee Compber. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bakerbower of Redondo. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Compber Sr.

Rev. Robert J. Kersey officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white organza gown trimmed with lace. A lace crown decorated with seed pearls held the elbow-length bridal veil. Her flowers were butterfly orchids and stephanotis atop the family Bible. Miss M. Joyce Wayt, in blue silk organza, was the maid of honor and Mrs.

Michael Bartelt and Carolyn Weir were bridesmaids. They also wore blue organza and carried pink carnations.

Floyd L. Compber, Jr. was best man. Ushers were John Kolstad and Gerald Hickman.

A reception was held at the church with Mrs. Herb Grandorf and Miss Julann Odwald registering the guests.

A honeymoon was spent at Lake Tahoe and the newlyweds are at home in Torrance.

The bride was graduated from North High School, El Camino College and the University of California at Santa Barbara. She is an elementary teacher in Inglewood.

Her husband, a graduate of Redondo High and UC at Santa Barbara, is employed by the Manchester Lumber Co. Gardena.

Sunshine Girls Given Pins, Badges at Tea

Thirty-one South Bay girls were honored for a summer of service to the ill and aged at a tea held Thursday evening at the Fairmont Convalesorium, 22617 S. Vermont in Torrance.

The girls, ranging in age from 13 to 16 and representing four junior and senior high schools in the South Bay area, are members of the Sunshine Girls volunteer auxiliary.

Each of the girls has given an average of four hours daily throughout the summer to serving patients at the Convalesorium, a convalescent-geriatric care center.

"Our patients need more than medical treatment," said Mrs. Dolores Davidson, directors of volunteers and coordinator of patient activities for Convalesorium of California. They need a sense of being in the mainstreams of life. They need companionship, mental stimulation and something to do.

"The 'sunshine' that makes life worth living is provided by our volunteers."

Each girl received a service pin and a shoulder patch presented by Robert S. Ives, director of the Fairmont Convalesorium, and Mrs. Davidson.

Among the "sunshine" girls and their school affiliations are Sandi Buckley, Fleming; Belinda Bell, Judy Campbell, Linda Davis, Patty Devine, Judy Gomez, Vicki Hathaway, Letty Lansberry, Cheryl Linde, Mildred Lockmiller, Patricia Nolene, Cherie Riley, Linda Roberts and Deborah Sharlack, Stephen White.

Also, Theresa Bell, Alice Devine, Gayle Dula, Sandra Duneck, Helen Fones, Barbara Rendon and Sherry Thorn, Carson High; Barbara Bradley, Narbonne; Linda Alden and Laurie Click, Palos Verdes High.
