Ice Follies Features World's Best

Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies, making its Long Beach arena premiere Sept. 17, claims more world, national and regional champions and old medalists than any other traveling professional skating show.

World champion Donald Jackson, 23-year-old Canadian star, is an example. He is in his second season with the randdaddy of the ice shows and won his title in 1962.

JACKSON'S world triumph came during the competition at Prague, Czechoslovakia, and topped a brilliant amateur career that also saw him capture the North American and Canadian titles three times.

The first Canadian skater to win the world title, Jackson was a star in the 1960 winter Olympics at Squaw Valley. There, he won a gold medal for Canada.

OTHER WORLD and national champions who are featured in the Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies include Richard Dwyer, Dorothyann Nelson, Germany's Ina Bauer, Hungary's Istvan Szenes, and a host of gold medalists and regional title holders. In all, a cast of 150 skating stars is featured in the 28th edition of the show.

The Ice Follies will run through Sept. 22. Ticket information is available at the Arena box office and all mutual agencies.

The only record of international sports competition in the Middle Ages is that of wrestling matches between France and England. These were held in the presence of royalty. Francis I of France, it is said, once challenged Henry VIII to a personal bout after several of his Frenchmen had suffered humiliating defeats.

30-Year-Old Berlin Paper Tells of Hitler's Arrival

Just an old newspaper slightly yellowed with age and somewhat frayed at the edges that was recently given to the Los Angeles County Library has been welcomed by County Librarian William S. Geller as "a reference 'find'" and an addition to the library's historical archives that is "of inestimable value."

The gift of Donavon E. Roberts, Los Angeles newspaperman, the document is a complete copy of the "Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung" for May 1, 1933. It is the issue of the largest illustrated weekly then published in Europe which raised the curtain on the most fateful era in modern history.

This is the edition that pictures the first massing of German people at Hitler's call on the day he had chosen to prove to the world the solidarity of their support of his rule.

From daybreak till after nightfall the people marched, converging on Templehof Air-drome in 11 separate columns, Roberts, who was present at the scene, said. He recalled that the newspapers of the weekend were packed with pictures of the great show, the massed flags, the searchlights, the rigid troopers. Six years later came the war, 12 years later the Third Reich ended... 988 years short of Hitler's boast that it would live a thousand years.

It's Funny Story That Wins Honors

A humorous speech on "Resistanshalism" won top honors for Marvin Nordby of Rolling Hills during the regular meeting of the Rolling Hills Toastmasters Club 139.

Nordby's speech explored the never-ending fight between man and the inanimate objects he has created.

Other winners were John Beck, who took honors for the best impromptu speech of the evening, and Frank Funk, best performance as general evaluator.

The winners are taking part in contests to determine the contestants for the International Area 3 speech contest to be held Oct. 12.

The earliest surviving academic building in the United States was erected in 1695. It was designed by Sir Christopher Wren for the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va. The building was later used as a hospital by George Washington in the Yorktown campaign of the American Revolution.
