New 23-Unit Apartment Opens Here

Opening of a new 23-unit luxury apartment building is slated for sometime this month, according to developer Albert Levitt. The building, named "The Taft," is located at 22608 S. Ocean Ave.

Features of the new apartment units include individual private patios, a large swimming pool, carpeting and draperies, and the latest in modern kitchen appliances.

All units face a secluded patio, and landscaping has been done to comply with the over-all theme of quiet and dignity. Special care has been taken by the builders not to over-develop the large site. Only 23 units and garages are in the building.

Mrs. Dorothy Proctor is manager of the apartments.

CANCER PREVENTION MONTH . . . Supervisor Kenneth Hahn (second district, presents a proclamation designating October as "Cancer Prevention Month" to officers of the Cancer Prevention Society of Los Angeles. Accepting the proclamation are Dr. William F. Quinn, vice president; Dr. Elizabeth Mason-Hohl, chief of staff; and Superior Court Judge Roger A. Pfaff, president. Since 1943, the group has conducted more than 250,000 examinations in the Los Angeles area. In presenting the citation, Hahn told the group, "Thousands of people today enjoy good health and peace of mind because these examinations made possible the early detection and prompt treatment of cancer."
