

'Can't Judge Book By Its Cover . . .

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl who needs your help. A family moved to this neighborhood about three weeks ago. They have a daughter my age, I will call her Brenda.

My mother says Brenda looks like a tramp. I agree that my mother is part-way right. Brenda wears a monster hair-do and piles on the make up. But this is just poor taste and has nothing to do with her morals. Brenda is actually one of the nicest girls I have ever known. girls I have ever known.

If mother got to know Brenda better she would like her. Don't you think it is un-fair of my mother to judge my friend from her outward appearance?—DEFENDER.

appearance?—DEFENDER.

Dear Defender: They say
"You can't judge a book by Its cover" and it's true, because some covers are misleading. But a cheap or shoddy cover on a good book is indefensible and stupid.

If you want to do Brenda a real favor, wise her up.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband pays income taxes hand over fist. He has no innand over 11st, the has no in-terest in anyone except him-self, and no interest in any-thing but making money. I used to have guests over but he humiliated me by yawn-ing in their faces and dozing when they spoke when they spoke.

One night I invited three couples for dinner. At 10:30 p.m. he announced, "I'm tired. Good night." He turned out the lights and left us sitting in the dark. That was in 1957 and I have not asked anyone over since.

anyone over since.

I've always wanted to travel and there is no reason why we shouldn't see the world and enjoy ourselves. We get as far as the brochures. He nods and lets me think he is serious. When it comes to briving the tickets he gives buying the tickets he gives me ten reasons why he can't leave town.

Is it fair that I should be getting so little out of life just because my husband is a driven, money-mad, stick-in-the-mud?—MRS, BLAH.

the-mud?—MRS. BLAH.
Dear Mrs. Blah: No, it isn't, and you are a fool if you let him get away with it.
Plan a trip and buy the tlekets yourself. Tell him if he will not go you will invite (as your guest) a woman friend or a relative in his place. (It would be lovely if you chose someone who could not afford a trip.) Then you chose someone who could not afford a trip.) Then (Continued on Page 10)
