Chamber President Pledges Work To Develop a Better Community

Striking an appropriate keynote to the observance of national Chamber of Commerce Week, April 5-11, George W. Post, president of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, has pledged the Chamber to continue working for a bigger and better community.

President Lyndon B. Johnson recently issued an official proclamation designating the unique observance in recognition of the important part chambers of commerce play in the economic, social and cultural development of our state and nation.

POST POINTED out that the purposes of Chamber of Commerce Week are threefold: to create a public awareness and understanding of the purpose and need for chambers of commerce, to give recognition to the Chamber's staff and to the volunteer leaders for their constructive participation in community affairs, and to further strengthen relations with organizations and agencies in our community.

The nationwide observance is being coordinated by the American Chamber of Commerce Executives, the national management society for chamber executives, Post said. The society is dedicated to improving executive efficiency, establishing and maintaining ethical standards and working toward the ultimate aim of community improvement throughout the United States by continually raising the caliber of chamber executive performance, he added.

HISTORICALLY, chambers of commerce have been the backbone of civilized communities, Post stated. He noted that organizations similar to present day chambers of commerce have had an important role in history as far back as 6,000 years ago. According to archeologists, the ancient Mesopotamian Kingdom of Mari boasted both a foreign office and a board of trade. There were "chambers of commerce" outside the walls of Babylon, Post said, and they have existed in

'Bootlegged' Subdivisions Under Attack

Tighter regulations to control "bootleg" subdivisions were called for this week by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

Such subdivisions take advantage of a loophole in the law to escape requirements for basic facilities as streets, sewers and drainage.

Present law defines a subdivision as five or more houses, and the subdivider must obtain approval for his project from the Regional Planning Commission.

However, in many instances the law can be "dodged" if only four houses are built at a time, thereby not subject to Regional Planning scrutiny.

"What too often happens," Hahn said, "is a person buys a home and later finds his sewer isn't hooked up or there isn't adequate drainage when the first heavy rain comes."

Hahn asked County Engineer John Lambie to report within 30 days on methods to control "bootleg" subdivisions.

Kyte Named on Fall Honor Roll

Craig Kyte, a student at Westmont College in Santa Barbara, has been named to the fall semester honor roll.

Kyte, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kyte. He was one of 14 members of his class to make the honor roll. A student must maintain a 3.5 grade point average to qualify.

various forms in Europe since the Middle Ages.

In this country, he said, the chambers of commerce movement has been characterized by an ability and willingness to meet the ever-changing problems of a growing nation. Before modern transportation and communications simplified the flow of trade, trading organizations were formed and their members held meetings for the sole purpose of trading with one another. A different predecessor to the present day chamber of commerce — the protective organizations fought high taxes and discriminatory regulations. A third group known as town boosters promoted community growth by seeking good roads and new industries in less developed areas of the country.
