which will leave no room for doubt. If she persists in her routine drop her like a hot coal and don't worry about having lost a friend. Because she wasn't one.

Dear Ann Landers: I wash clothes three times a week. Our four children range from 8 to 12 years of age. They all wear washable clothes and change daily. I'd prefer to have three small washes than one big one.

My husband claims any woman who washes three times (unless she has babies in the house) either is trying to impress the neighbors with her cleanliness, or she is off her rocker.

I might tell you I wash three times a week in winter as well as summer, and I hang the wash in the basement where the neighbors can't see it. Please comment.

NUTS BUT CLEAN
Dear But: If you want to wash twice a day six days a week, what's it to him? A lot of women spend their time and energy in less productive ways.

A great many husbands who write to me would cheerfully trade complaints with yours.

Confidential to MIDDLE MAID: It is perfectly obvious you have a lot to lose, but what can you gain?

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" (12.95), is now available at your book store.
