HIGHLIGHTS

Helen Herrald, Editor

The Ink Spots are making music again in the "Porpoise Room" of Marineland Restaurant.

The perennial favorites, smoothly led by Charlie Owens, opened a six-week run at the cliff-side dining spot Tuesday.

The close-harmony group is featuring mellow ballads and "talking choruses," their trademark, which strike a chord with all.

George M. Foster, owner of Marineland Restaurant, has booked the vocal stars to entertain nightly, except Mondays, through May 24.

Until then, The Ink Spots, best identified with "If I Didn't Care" and "It's Funny to Everyone But Me," will be fusing such honey-sweet classics with the currently popular hits.

A lecture-demonstration on "What is Modern Expressional Dance?" will be presented by Mary Jane Hungerford, Ph.D., at the El Camino College Campus Theatre April 24 at 8 p.m.

Former head of dance at University of Southern California, Dr. Hungerford will explain what various dance techniques are designed to accomplish and how dances are composed.

In addition to performing two solos, Dr. Hungerford will draw on dancers from her repertory group to illustrate her lecture.

Due to the successful run of Chapel Theatre's current production of "Come Blow Your Horn" the theatre has scheduled three extra performances, April 26 and May 1 and 2.

The Neil Simon comedy features Jim Andrews, Ed Rice, Jack Daly, Cassandra Leavitt, Jeanne Appel and Sally Slatter in a father's futile attempt to interest his sons in the family business as opposed to pursuing young ladies.

Reservations are available at the box office FR 2-9636.

El Camino Pianists To Appear

Duo-pianists Rosemarie Luthi and Amanda DeRycke of El Camino College will present a second recital at the El Camino Campus Theater Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

This year's concert will incorporate a group of vocal duets and solos by Mrs. DeRycke and guest artist, soprano Margaret Davis.

Shubert's "Fantasia" Op. 15, arranged by Franz List, and "Dances Andalouse" by Manuel Infante will be included in the program.

Miss Davis and Miss DeRycke will perform duets from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, "Lohengrin" by Wagner and "Der Frieschutz" by Von Weber. Accompanying them at the piano will be Miss Luthi.

Restaurant operators who will attend the National Restaurant Convention in Chicago, May 25-28, report spending an average of 60 hours a week in their business.

"MUSIC MAN" . . . Meredith Wilson and his wife, Rini, will appear in a special program at El Camino College tomorrow evening saluting his Broadway musical, "The Music Man." Titled "An Hour of Mirth and Music," the presentation will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the college gymnasium. Admission is $1.

Hollywood Reporter

By Mike Connolly

Dear Mike: A young English professor out your way tells his students that I am an opportunistic, insincere, cold and unaffectionate writer who is lacking in subtlety, obsessed about money and a hell of a lot else. Does all this qualify me for a professorship out there in Sunshine-by-the-Pacificville? — James T. Farrell, New York City.

Dear Jim: The Halls of Academe are out of my sphere, but I wish you would write more "Stud Longian"-type stuff and sell it to the movies . . . we need good film material. Aside from that, my old friend, I hope you win this year's Nobel Prize.

Dear Sir: I hate the movies. I swear off each time I go. Yet I keep on going. It's like dope. I can't help myself. I go to see one of The Year's Ten Best and it turns out to be all of The Year's Ten Worst wrapped up in one. Oscar winners, film festival winners, they're all the same, all so bad they positively make my teeth ache. And yet I keep going to the movies. What else is there to do? — Joe Brody, New York City.

Dear Joe: You could go to the dentist. There's wonderful reading in those old waiting room magazines.

Hi Mike: You wrote an item recently about Stephen Boyd and his "two front teeth" and then referred to them later as bicuspid. Front teeth are incisors. Here's hoping you're seeing your dentist every six months and thereby preventing serious troubles. Prevention is better than cure and a lot less expensive.—Leland D. Jones, DDS, San Diego.

Dear Dr. Jones: I'll pass the word along to Joe Brody.

Mr. Connolly: Is it true Ringo Starr, the Beatles' drummer, is suffering from an incurable stomach ailment and has only a year to live?—Chandra Turman, El Cajon.

Dear Chandra: Ringo says he's so healthy he may have to give up weight-lifting — or bust! Could it be those unflattering camera angles that cause his grins to look like grimaces?

Some 100 awards will be given for outstanding menus at the National Restaurant Convention in Chicago, May 25-28, and a selected 30 will be published in a book called "Great American Menus."
