

Do-It-Yourself Beauty Possible

The beauty tips have been arriving at my desk, but not quite enough to fill a book. I'm surprised. I thought I would be swamped, but then, American women are not as beauty-conscious as are European women.

It is true you spend more money on cosmetics, but you do so little research. Far too many of you do not care enough about your personal appearance to experiment with the new and the homemade.

You think all you have to do is open a jar—and voila! You're beautiful.

For those of you who really care, here are some interesting beauty secrets from women who apparently are secure enough in their beauty success that they have the courage and interest to pass them on to you.

Mrs. C. A. Lease Jr. of Stockton lends you this time-saver for a facial steamer: "I first cream my face and neck and then as the hot water from my first load of wash starts filling the washing machine I lean over low and let this steam cover my face and neck. Takes just a couple of minutes."

From someone who wishes to have her name withheld is this mascara trick: "For removing mascara, never try to wash it off. Use white petroleum vaseline, rubbing on lightly with an upstroke motion. Remove with tissue. One jar may last a year or so, compared with mascara removal pads. A side effect is an upward slant from gentle everyday motion. I've used this for 10 years and have lovely long lashes."

Another tip from her worth noting is this: "A good facial mask is to beat white of egg until it peaks. Add vanilla to make a better smell. Apply with fingertips to a freshly-washed face. There will be enough mix for two faces (invite a neighbor to share). Leave on for half an hour or until dry. It will drip, so wear towel around the neck. Wash off with warm water."

A most unusual tip comes from a man in Phoenix. He calls it "Remedy for Baldness," and says this recipe has been known for many years and found a prominent place in the list of remedies for this evil. It is the celebrated Baron Dupuytjene pomade:

"Take 6 oz. boxwood shavings; 12 oz. proof spirit; 2 oz. spirits of rosemary; 1/2 oz. spirits of nutmeg. The boxwood shavings should be left in the spirits to steep for 14 days at 60 degrees temperature. The liquid is then to be strained off and the residue rubbed thoroughly on the bald spots night and morning. This book is 20th Century etiquette printed in 1900 by Annie, Randall White."

Well, that sounds rough, but not having that problem, I leave it up to one of you with more courage than I to try it.

Old or new, I am looking forward to receiving your beauty secrets. Keep them coming.

Employment 74,500 Over A Year Ago

A March employment increase of 74,500 over the month's total a year ago was noted in the Los Angeles-Long Beach-Orange County area, according to Albert B. Tieburg, director of employment.

Construction, services, and trade accounted for most of the employment upturn, but gains were reported in all major industry groups.

Job losses in the important defense and space-related industries moderated a rise in factory employment. Electrical machinery lost 2,000 jobs, while aircraft employment was down by 700.

Torrance Methodist Church Co-Hosts Wesleyan Meeting

The 25th anniversary of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild was honored last week with the spring rally of the Long Beach district guild at the First Methodist Church of Torrance. Jean Liles Wesleyan Service Guild of Harbor City served as co-hostess with the local church.

The program, which began with registrations at 1:30 p.m., included: devotions and memorial service, conducted by Mrs. Verna Warren, district spiritual life secretary; welcoming address, Mrs. Irene Steele, president of the local guild; and business meeting and election of district officers with Mrs. Helen Griffin, district secretary, presiding.

Representative from 21 of the 23 guilds in the Long Beach district, presented reports and Miss Esther Ratliff, conference guild secretary, spoke in observance of the 25th anniversary of the guild. Dinner was served at 5:45 and guests introduced, including: Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Walters, superintendent of the Methodist Church; the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Brown of Grace Church in Long Beach;

Mrs. Otto Wittman, conference president; the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Nagel and the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Goodell of Torrance First Methodist Church; Mrs. Molly Groebe, district treasurer; Mrs. Birdie Winslow of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Griffin; and Mrs. Esther Ratliff, conference guild secretary.

The Rev. Stanley Brown of Grace Church in Long Beach spoke on "Why Are We Here?" during the evening session with Mrs. Robert Herb providing the music.

Installation of district officers closed the meeting.

Composer's Work To Be Premiered

"Sinfonia Seria," composed by Dr. Ernest Kanitz, member of the Marymount College music department faculty, will receive its world premiere performance by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra during the coming season.

Dr. Kanitz was recently honored with a full program of his music on his 70th birthday by the UCLA symphony orchestra.

Wednesday Evening

Forum Panel to Discuss Drugs

"Narcotics and the Law," the second of five programs devoted to current issues, will be discussed by a panel of experts at the North High School auditorium Wednesday evening. The programs are sponsored by the South Bay Forum.

Arnold Cowan, city attorney for Redondo Beach, will moderate the panel discussion.

Panelists for the program include Dr. Walter Bailey, professor of social welfare at UCLA; Burnell Blanchard, field supervisor of the medical-legal drug section of the California Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement; Fred Oakrand, counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, and a representative and resident of Synanon House.

Synanon House is the controversial center in Santa Monica for drug addicts.

Tickets for the program at $1.50 may be purchased at the door.

South Bay Forum is a non-partisan, non-political organization which hopes to bring factual public discussions to the area. The Forum attempts to present all sides of the issue during a panel discussion.

Carl Pearlston Jr., president of the organization, said the programs are being presented in the hope that "thoughtful probing of controversial issues will enhance public enlightenment and understanding." Pearlston adds, "It is not the goal of South Bay Forum to provide conclusions, but to stimulate discussion and thought necessary to reach understanding."

Series tickets for the remaining four programs may be purchased from the group at $4.75. Other discussions will deal with "Prayer and Religious Ceremony in the Public Schools," "Medical Care and the Nation's Health," and "Fair or Forced Housing?"

Sophomores Will Stage Talent Show

"Head for the hills!" That's what the student body at Bishop Montgomery High will be doing when they take to the stadium and the annual sophomore talent show next Wednesday.

The title of this year's show is "Television Comes to the Ozarks," and the show promises to live up to its title. The show will include some Irish folk dances, Tim Harris' Sun-downers, the Four Peps vocal group, and several surprise acts.

Presiding over the show is a family of hillbillies whose job is to switch the T.V. from channel to channel.

Connie Garcia, Chris Dumright, Steve Copenhaver, and Richard Kallmeyer are in charge of staging this production. Chris Hunt is in charge of the script.

Harbor Area Republicans Set Meeting

Members of the Harbor Area Republican Club will hold their regular meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Republican Headquarters in San Pedro.

Speakers for the evening will be candidates from San Pedro, Harbor City, Lomita and Torrance for the assembly and Congress.

Mitch Toland will report on the "Party to People Forum" in which General Eisenhower has played a major role.

The headquarters is located at 414 W. Seventh St.

Dividend Declared

A quarterly dividend of 45 cents per share on common stock has been declared by the board of directors of Security First National Bank. The dividend will be payable May 5 to shareholders of record April 21.
