

Harbor City's Fieldhouse Plan Wins First Approval

Preliminary plans for a new fieldhouse at Harbor City Recreation Center, 1301 Lomita Blvd., have been approved by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Commission.

Although the new fieldhouse will be three separate buildings and a covered play area, it has been designed under roofs so that it appears as one structure.

THE LARGEST building is 64 by 48 feet and contains a general purpose room 46 feet long and 32 feet wide. The structure includes a storage room, small pantry and an indoor-outdoor sanitary facility for men and women.

The second building, located approximately 28 feet south of the larger one, has a 16x32-foot craft room which can be divided into two smaller craft rooms by a removable partition.

The third building is a 16-foot square director's office with an equipment area. It is located in front of the two larger buildings to provide good visibility over the entire play area. Slightly behind the director's office and in front of the craft room is a 24x40-foot covered play area.

THE THREE-buildings-in-one fieldhouse will have exterior walls of concrete masonry with large glass areas to provide maximum visibility.

Harbor City Recreation Center is an 8.8-acre area acquired under provisions of the Recreation and Parks Bond Fund and its $131,888 ground development was financed from the same source.
