

CITRUS GARNISHES make the accessories that add distinction to most ordinary dishes. Pictured here are lemons cut in variety of ways to enhance your culinary efforts.

Garnishes Give Touch of Artist-Decorator

Gay garnishes bring added life and zest to foods in the same way that smart looking accessories pep up spring wardrobes.

The proper garnish makes foods more appetizing and gives them that final decorative touch that makes even the most ordinary dish seem dressed up for a gala occasion.

Lemon slices belong in the class of the most versatile garnishes.

Slice them into cartwheel shapes, make crosses of them, add chopped parsley and paprika to the top and note how glamorous they look.

To make the cartwheels, cut thin slices of lemons; then notch the peel with a sharp knife or scissors. A whole clove in the center adds the final touch. Float these in a pitcher of lemonade or on top of soup.

The garnishes with chopped parsley are made by cutting off the top quarter and the bottom quarter of thin lemon slices. Each slice is decorated with chopped parsley for a decorative touch for fish or vegetables.

The curls can be made by cutting half the pulp from a thin lemon slice, being careful to leave all the peel.

Curly the peel into a circular position. Two of these curls placed together and repeated around a large meat platter make a beautiful garnish.

For the crosses, cut four wedges equidistant around the lemon slice. Top with olive slice. Half cartwheels are attractive when sprinkled with paprika.

APRICOT TORTE

Orange chiffon cake and sunny apricots are a betrothal in the culinary realm. Apricot Torte is such a wedding of desserts.

Drain the apricots from a #303 can of an unpeeled, dietetic pack. Add the juice to 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin which has been softened in ¼ cup water.

Heighten flavor with 1½ teaspoons lemon juice; chill in refrigerator. Puree apricots and blend into gelatin mixture.

Return to refrigerator to thicken slightly. In the meantime, slice an 8-inch orange chiffon cake into 3 equal layers. Spread thickened apricot mixture, ¼ cupful at a time, between the layers and on top. Serves 12.

Serve as Main Course

Combine and heat one can (one pound) green beans and their liquid with one can (10½-ounces) condensed cream of celery soup and one can (seven ounces) tuna.

Serve on crisp toast or rusk for colorful and hearty main course.

Scientist Develops System of 'Voiceprint' Identification

Your voice is so distinctive that some day it may be used to identify you in much the same way that fingerprints are now used, says Lawrence G. Kersta of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Kersta, an acoustical research scientist, explained his "voiceprint" classification project to a group of educators in Los Angeles recently. Pacific Telephone was host for the conference at the Los Angeles communications complex.

The local programs and facilities of the United Cerebral Palsy Assn. provide training and therapy for the cerebral palsyed from infancy to adulthood.
