sician of the year for 1955, jazz personality of the year in 1954 and 1955, and his group's recognition on cover stories in "Time," "Down Beat," "Metronome," and "Playboy" magazines.

THE QUARTET organized in 1951 includes: Paul Desmond, saxophonist; Gene Wright, Bass; Joe Morello, drums; and Brubeck piano. Experiments in the use of counterpoint, fugue, polytonality, polyrhythms and poetry in jazz are featured by the foursome.

Brubeck continues to reach more and more people through college concert tours, a movement he began in 1953, and summer music festivals played through the United States and Canada.

Brubeck made a first appearance at El Camino in October, 1959, and was received by an audience of more than 1,400. Tickets are on sale in the student store.
