

THE ARLINGTON . . . One of the new split-level homes in Don Wilson's newest Torrance development, Marble Estates, is called "The Arlington," and offers four bedrooms, a family room, secluded master bedroom, with the outstanding construction and cabinet features available today.

One Third of City's Homes Were · Built By One Firm--Don Wilson

least one home built by Don

Steel Firm 50th Year

then 85 years-old and founder of the firm, thrust a tiny flame into one of the huge open hearth steel furnaces of the new $500,000 plant, and one of Torrance's major industries dame alive.

Wilson entered the building business via the banking profession. As a loan officer with ing. Soon the excitement and potential of large scale housing development exerted great location in Gardena where the ing development exerted great pressures on Wilson.

HE LEFT the banking profession to form a partnership with a prominent developer in house all divisions of his op-the Southwest area of Los An-eration; land acquisition, degeles. The partnership flour-tion postponed its official opening until Sept. 13, 1916. On that day, the hand of a woman touched off the huge furnace which led to the pouring of the first heat of steel in the city.

Mrs. Hannah D. Llewellyn, then 85 years-old and founder of the firm, thrust a tiny flame into one of the huge open the firm of the state of the firm, thrust a tiny flame into one of the huge open the firm of the firm was the fourth the firm, thrust a tiny flame into one of the huge open the firm of the Norwalk area and over 5,000 in the was the fourth largest in the United States, homes during the ensuing years the rection will be up into the sky.

Wilson leans heavily on his staff for future developments and graciously credits them for his success.

Wilson's current for his success.

Wilson's current for his success.

Wilson's current developments and graciously credits them for his success.

Wilson's current for his success.

Wilson leans heavily on his saff for future developments areas. In 1955, their home for his success.

Wilson's current for his success.

Torrance Herald's plant superintendent for 24 years, is now occupying large quarters at 1760 Oak St., one block east of Crenshaw Boulevard at Carson Street.

and been in the Herald's composing room for nearly a quarintendent for 24 years, is now mercial printing shop adjacent to The Herald in downtown Torrance and took over all job printing formerly done in the Morald son, Robert Jr., who purichased his father's interest last itely of printed forms and special materials; a complete line of business and personalprinting facilities, and efficient, competent typesetting and printing facilities, and efficient, competent typesetting and printing facilities, and efficient, competent typesetting and press work.

Lewellen Press Offers Variety

Of Printing Facilities to Area

Lewellen Press, a printing Robert L. Lewellen Sr. who business started in 1949 by the had been in the Herald's combusiness since the start was master.

Why, Even the Women Do It, Judge Notes

Torrance was a busy art of with Marx & Moyse, enlisted in a lustily heaved brick several right to smoke at the table. Knutson, Gardena publisher, made his decision to begin Herald half a century ago.

rance mothers, spearheaded by "eight-day phonograph."

Mrs. J. J. Burns, had been seeking a high school teacher for items of the busy weekend was table.

Name according to the form of the more exciting items of the busy weekend was table.

Southern California when B. M. the U. S. Army, and the editor days ago." reported that the neighborhood of Gramercy and 220th Street little advice for "the henpecks." publication of The Torrance had been restored to a quiet A housewife seeking a di-

Marble Estates model homes are open daily from 10 a.m. and may be reached by driving and may be reached by driving south on Crenshaw to 234th Street.

Marble Estates model homes are open daily from 10 a.m. Charles Hudson, formerly items of the busy weekend was a report that one young Torance resident had nearly recovered from what might have been a very serious injury, when he came in contact with this day and age a man has a Brighton.

ACCEPTS POSITION

Miss Morgan, recently of San remaided the judge.

"I don't want to hear about that. Those are trivialities. In this day and age a man has a Brighton.

her drink wine and had hurt half a century.

The newspaper also had a table sometimes," the judge

He continued the case, and place with the untimely "acci- vorce told a Judge Monroe that the final outcome has been For one thing, several Torplace with the untimery acts voice and a studge stont of the dimmed with the passing of dent' which befell a resident's her husband had tried to make dimmed with the passing of

ACCEPTS POSITION

Nears Its

Another pioneer Torrance firm is nearing its 50th anniversary—the Torrance Works branch of United-California

Bank, was among advertisers in the first edition of The Torrance Herald on Jan. 1, 1914.
The bank noted a capital of $5,000, and offered 4 per cent interest on time deposits.

CLOSE-IN area development to a will nog lighters also are offered. Kitchens feature built-in dishwasher, electrical disposer, ash cabinto avoid long distance commuting. The successful sales

If you drive around the city Wilson has built in excess of pattern of his developments of Torrance for a few minutes, one third of the dwelling units prove this theory sound.

Chances are you will pass at in the city.

Marble Estates model homes are open daily from 10 a.m. Wilson's building philosophy is to acquire premium priced close-in acreage and erect up-per medium price homes with fession. As a loan officer with as many custom or better fea-a local bank he was constantly involved in real estate financ-into them.

He directs the building firms original partnership first started.

THE MODERN facilities

of the U.S. Steel Corp.
Started in Torrance as the Llewellyn Iron Works, the plant was first announced in 1913, but delays in construction postponed its official

During the partnership from the start; one particularly one particularly of welling development will downship for some time, but in a few years the change to multiple dwelling will accelerate rapidly and the inevitable direction will be up into the sky. Wilson predicts that single for his success.

Wilson's current development, Marble Estates, is located at Crenshaw and 234th Street. The custom development encompasses 1- and 2-story, split-level, 3-, 4-, and 5-bedroom, family room, 2- and 3-bath homes.

homes during that year.

In the firm, thrust a tiny flame into one of the huge open hearth steel furnaces of the new $500,000 plant, and one of Torrance's major industries came alive.

Grouped around Mrs. Llewelly n were her four sons, Reese, David E. William, and John Llewelly n, and her daughter, Mrs. John Milner.

The plant later became part of Columbia Steel Co., and now is part of the Columbia-Geneva Division of U.S. Steel.

EARLY ADVERTISER

The First National Bank of Torrance, now the Torrance branch of United-California Bank, was among advertisers in the first edition of The Torint the first edition of The Torint and the first edition of the total content of the Columbia Steel Co., and now is part of the Columbia-Geneva Division of U.S. Steel.

EARLY ADVERTISER

The First National Bank of Torrance, now the Torrance branch of United-California Bank, was among advertisers in the first edition of The Torint the first edition of The Torint the first edition of the total came alive.

WILSON LED the way in many innovations in the local builder to develop an all two-story home tract. Additionally, he was the first local builder to introduce the central atrium —inside patio—in moderate price housing.

Wilson continued the business when his partner died in 1956, went on to complete approximately 10,000 homes in the Torrance and Gardena areas. During this time he built over 1,500 homes in Westminster, La Mirada, and Covina areas and about 900 homes in Dominguez Hills.

WILSON LED the way in many innovations in the local builder to detroom, family room, 2- and 3-bath homes.

ELECTRICAL utilities are underground at Marble Estates include huge lesiver rooms with wet bar complete with glass shelves, steel sink, hot and cold water. Torp quality wall-to-wall carpetal situations and the first to develop an all two introduces the central atrium —inside patio—in moderate price housing.

Wilson continued the busing the first to develop and two introduces the central atrium —inside patio—in moderate price housing.

Wilson c

Sheview<sub>1</sub> EXCITING, NEW 1964 SPLIT LEVEL In the Heart of the Choice South Bay ... the PALOS VERDES FOOTHILLS

ARBLE ESTATES

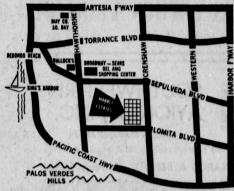

Selective Community of Superb Quality 1 and 2 Story, 3-4-5 Bedroom, Family room, 2 and 3 Bath Custom Homes

CUSTOM FEATURES GALORE! Life-long genuine lath and plaster construction • Underground electrical utilities • Heavy hand-split cedar and shingle roofs • Leisure rooms with wet bar, glass shelves, mirrored back bar, stainless steel sink, hot and cold water • Custom fireplaces of brick, Slumpstone, Palos Verdes stone, concrete block or used brick with log lighters . Radio intercom system • Wall to wall carpeting throughout house.

CUSTOM KITCHENS! Famous quality built-in O'Keefe & Merritt electric range and oven with rotisserie . Stained ash cabinets . Hood and fan unit with grease filter • Waste King electrical dis-poser • Built-in Waste King-Universal dishwasher with sparkle rinse

CUSTOM BATHROOMS! Natural ash Pullman cabinets with cultured marble tops • Huge, plate glass mirrors • Showers of newest style ceramic tile • Safety laminated fiberglass shower doors •

DELUXE EXTRAS! Telephone outlet plugs • TV antenna outlet · Family snack bars · 220 volt outlets to range, oven and dryer

FROM LOS ANGELES drive south on any major street — Harbor Freeway, Western Avenue, Crenshaw Blvd. — to Sepulveda. Then drive on Sepulveda to Crenshaw Blvd., then south on Crenshaw to Marble Estates.

SEE THE FINEST HOMES BY FAR...SEE MARBLE ESTATES TODAY! ONE STORY HOMES from $33,650

Corner of CRENSHAW and 234th STREET

DON WILSON the Southland's most reliable builder

Lewellen Press

ONE OF THE LARGEST AND FINEST PRINT SHOPS IN THE ENTIRE HARBOR AREA

Complete line of . . Wedding Announcements

- Office Forms
- Cards
- Booklets
- Rubber Stamps
- Carbon Snapshots
- Typesetting

FA 8-2807

1760 OAK STREET

TORRANCE

LETTERPRESS

LITHOGRAPHY

Nothing to large

Serving the Entire

Harbor Area

. or too small!

(1 Block East of Crenshaw and 1/2 Block South of Carson St.)