... Jaycees,

(Continued From Page 1) lot of different kinds of charity projects to raise money. Other problems are the limited number of medical visas granted each year, piles of paper-work, lack of direct and per-sonal contact with the orphanage and the time involved in making the many and various contacts which are necessary.

YOO SOON HO would be treated at the hospital here as an outpatient except for the time of surgery on his back After that he would be boarded at a junior chamber mem ber's home.

Although the Jaycees know few personal facts about the youth, it is known that he was born April 1, 1957 and brought to the orphanage from the Pu-san city hall on March 7, 1962. The Jaycees have sponsored him since October of 1962. He has black hair, brown eyes and a medium complexion.

A HIGHLIGHT of some junior chamber meetings is the reading of letters that orphanage personnel write for the youth. "He wants pictures of our group and thanks us for presents he receives from us," Campbell said.

Campoell said.

The Jaycees send him Christmas and birthday presents whichin the past have included such items as a baseball and bat, toy guns, American games, books on presidents and geog-raphy. Not only Yoo Soon Ho but the whole orphanage ben-efits from the gifts.

"THE PROJECT has been warm and deserving one. The men enjoy knowing they are helping a little fellow less for-tunate than our own. It makes tunate than our own. It makes us appreciate our own families and situation," Campbell said. Sponsorship of the youth was undertaken after the Jaycees started looking around for a worthwhile project to back. They decided to adopt an orphan and since one of the members had served in Korea during the war, he was able to give the membership a first hand account on the situation faced by youngsters in South Korea.

"By doing something like this it shows an international flavor in helping others not as fortunate as us," Campbell

"IT'S STILL A new project for it's type in that it is the first project the Jaycees have continued year after year. In most of the club's other projects the goals are accomplished and the program dropped," Campbell added.

Yoo Soon Ho's adoption must be renewed each year.

"We feel that in one or two years we might have the project down to where it is even a nicer program. The program is unlimited in what we can do for our adopted son and other children like him," Campbell said.

SUPT. J. H. HULL got into step 1. J. H. HULL got into the debate and appeared to be sitting on the fence. Dr. Hull said that raising the maximum salaries at this time would cost the district very little in cash. But, he supported the position that Torrance should maintain the highest possible starting salaries for its teachers.

Dr. Hull said higher sched-ules are expensive today, "but you are committing boards 10 and 15 years from now."

The actual proposals will be given to the board June 15.

Dr. Kurt Shery, president of the board, has told the TEA, "the board will do the best it
