Demo Group Gives Lyman New Duties

David K. Lyman, Torrance City Councilman, has been elected chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the newly formed Democratic Volunteers Committee for Los Angeles County at a meeting of Assembly District Chairmen of that group.

"I am looking forward to serving the interests of all Democrats in the Los Angeles County and making the Democratic Volunteers Committee a group that truly represents the interests of all Democrats," Lyman said.

"The continued strength of the Democratic Party rests upon the ability of leading Democrats to create groups such as the Democratic Volunteers Committee that will allow all members of the party to express their views and opinions and try to make decisions about candidates and policies of the party without coercion from the top, he said.

"The Democratic Volunteers

Committee has been formed to allow grass roots party workers to have a real and effective voice in party politics. I hope that every interested Democratic worker will take advantage of their opportunity to join this group," he added.
