Stars Speak To Theatre Arts Pupils

An especially full week of extra events is taking place at Palos Verdes College in line with the summer session in the theater arts. On Friday the group attended Turnabout Theater in Beverly Hills, and Monday Miss Lotte Goslar, one of the stars of Turnabout, came to the College and presented a two-hour session in which she conducted a class in pantomime and engaged in demonstration and discussion with the students.

Miss Goslar, who has been with Turnabout for six years, received her training in Europe. She evidenced special interest in the little college, and in the production of "Everyman" which will climax the summer session next month.

Mr. Joseph Losey, stage and screen director, participated in a two-hour question-and-answer period on the problems of direction last Saturday at the College. Mr. Losey has had a varied career, having started as a stage hand and worked up to his present position in the field. He was with the Harvard Workshop, the Living Newspaper group of the Federal Theater; he has done radio shows for Norman Corwin and documentaries, as well as many stage and screen productions such as "The Boy with the Green Hair," "The Lawless," and "M," which is soon to be released.

Jacobino Caro, well-known Hollywood movement specialist, will be the guest speaker at the College on Thursday night, August 3rd, discussing Movement for Actors. She works with theater groups and motion picture actors in this field.

Mr. Leigh Harline, noted composer for motion pictures, and Mrs. Harline entertained the college group last Thursday at their Palos Verdes Estates home, where Mr. Harline explained his work and gave piano illustrations as well as showing excerpts from two pictures for which he wrote the music, "The Boy with Green Hair" and "They Live by Night."
