

GAS CO. DEMONSTRATION — Wives and youngsters of Southern California Gas Co. workers in Compton joined in a placard and picket demonstration last weekend in front of the local offices on East Compton boulevard. They seek a re-opening of negotiations with the company in an effort to obtain a wage increase to meet rising costs of living, according to Vincent

Gribblen, president of Local 152, Utility Workers Union, CIO. Signs charging big profits for the company, big gas bills for consumers, and no pay increase for workers were featured. "It Costs Us More to Live, Too" read the placard carried by a 5-year-old girl.
