City Manager George Stevens was instructed by the Council to write a letter to Mr. Kresse at the local mill relative to the parking conditions. The Council advised Stevens to state in the letter that present conditions were hazardous and a nuisance to residents in the area.

In this atomic age progress is taking place so rapidly that it is difficult for the average man to keep pace and this is true especially in the field of medicine. In all phases of medicine, medical science keeps pounding towards new and improved techniques, constantly making new discoveries to help alleviate the miseries of mankind. So it is with the common cold. The big guns of science have blasted at the common cold and in its wake have come up with the penicillins, sulfas and antihistamines. These discoveries have no doubt softened up the common cold considerably. A vast amount of further research is still necessary, however, to completely defeat this most common of all epidemics. One of the oldest and yet effective methods used to combat colds is the use of comp. Tinc. Benzoin in boiling water and the vapors inhaled. This method has been employed for decades and used extensively to this day. There is a product on the market under the name of MEDI-MIST that stresses this procedure. It utilizes the combined action of Comp. Tinc. Benzoin, Oil of Eucalyptus, Menthol and camphor. It is available at Payless Drugs. (Adv.)
