Sunday Christian Science Topic Will be 'God'

The Sunday Bible Lesson on 'God' in all Christian Science churches emphasizes that He is supreme and ever at hand to save and to heal. The local church is located at 218th St. and Manuel

The Golden Text from I Samuel (2:2) asserts: "There is none holy as the Lord: for there is none beside thee: neither is there any rock like our God."

In a Bible Lesson passage from I Kings (8:57, 59, 60) Solomon declares: "The Lord our God be with us, as he was with our fathers: let him not leave us, nor forsake us: . . And let these my word. . . . be nigh unto the Lord our God day and night, That all the people of the earth may know that the Lord is God, and there is none else.' '

"We are prone to believe either in more than one Supreme Ruler or in some power less than God," writes Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Again she says, "The God-principle is omnipresent and omnipotent. God is everywhere, and nothing apart from His is present or has power" (pp. 203, 473).

The Importance of Age How important is it for a ten-year-old wise true that in a democracy the needs boy play with those of his own age, It is in the rough and tumble play with one's peers that a child learns the and take which is so essential if he is to adjust himself happily to his fellows. If he plays only with the seven-yearold, he is likely so to dominate him that soon he will have an exalted opinion of his own powers and abilities. he finds himself with those of his own age whom he cannot dominate and with m he cannot have his own way, he may develop feelings of inferiority and insecurity that will remain with him throughout life. Let me suggest, therefore, that you have boys of his own age in your own Playground Quarrels home frequently—and encourage him to visit them. The seven-year-old neighbor can play with the older boys, too, and of course there will continue to be many occasions on which your son and the younger boy will continue to play alone.

Watch the Luxuries!

To what extent should parents provide their children with all the toys and luxuries the children want? Is there a danger that children will get to expect-ing anything they may take a fancy to, and get the idea that in life they can have whatever they want?

You have placed your finger on one of the most frequent mistakes that parents make. In their desire to make their children happy and to see to it that they have some of the joys they missed as children, parents not only them all the toys and luxuries they want, but in many cases more than they want. Is it any wonder, then, that children go out into life utterly unprepared for the thing they want. Our primary concern will be to help them discover how to be happy with what they have.

As children get older and the things they want become more expensive most family incomes automatically put a stop to the getting of everything they want. is exceedingly important that boys and girls should learn to get satisfaction and happiness out of experiences that do not require a large expenditure of

Family Councils

Do you approve of family councils? If they are democratic, the majority opinion will rule. What about the needs of the minority—let us say the child who is overruled by the others? Should not his needs be considered?

Yes, I heartily approve of family councils if they are entered into willingly and cheerfully by each member of the family and if they are conducted on a democratic basis.

I suppose that wherever you find live wide-awake, alert, and aggressive children playing together without adult guidance, some quarreling not only is inevitable but desirable. The very fact that they quarrel indicates that they are normal, healthy youngsters who are in the process of If you have a question about your child—from infancy through the teens—send it to Donald M. Maynard,

When children are small, therefore, let us guard against giving them everynothing especially to worry about. If quarrels did not occur 't we ald suggest that too many members of the group were supinely yielding to the selfish demands of the more aggressive ones. At the same time, quarrels can be too bitter and too continuous. This is especially likely to be true when there is no adult guidance. Youngsters need to receive suggestions as to how they may settle their disputes in an amicable fashion and to have experience in doing so. Sometimes these suggestions may come from parents, although parents need to guard against always trying to settle quarrels. Neighbors or teachers on the public school ground may be helpful at this point. Boys and girls need to learn how to make decisions on a demo-eratic basis, how to take turns, and how to yield gracefully when the decision of the crowd is against them.

These lessons will not be learned suddenly or easily but they can be learned. Under wise guidance quarrels may be reduced to a minimum.
