Lomita to Be Given New High School If Bond Issue Passes

Lomita may have a new Narbonne High School, but it is contingent on a big "If."
 That is "If" the Los Angeles Board of Education can swing a $200,000,000 bond issue, it was revealed today.
 Condemnation proceedings are now under way against 25 acres at Western Ave. and Lomita Blvd., where the new high school would be located.
 Arol Burns, real estate manager for the board of education, said the board has already acquired 12 acres of the proposed 37.5 acres wanted for the campus and has funds for the purchase of the acreage under dispute.
 However, there are no funds available for the construction of the school after the site is acquired. Board of education officials are preparing a $200,000,000 bond issue to be presented to voters in the school district next year.
 Funds for school would be included in the bond issue, it was reported, along with a second junior high school for Wilmington, which would be located in the eastern part of the port community.
 Construction of the high school here would also give this community a junior high school. Narbonne High School, now located at 253rd and Walnut Sts., would be renamed and used as a junior high school, the board of education said.
 Although Lomita is in county territory, the area is a member of the Los Angeles City School District. The board of education plans to build the new high school just inside the Los Angeles city limits in Harbor City, adjacent to Lomita.
 Students from the Shoestring Strip area of Los Angeles, the Harbor City area, Lomita, and Rolling Hills, also in the county, attend Narbonne High School.

Weeds Cut by Civic-Minded Torrance Man

Thanks to civic-minded Larry Robb of 2823 Alberta in Torrance, the disgraceful weed patch across the street from the Torrance Public Library, no longer exists.
 "Within one hour after the Torrance Press hit the street, Robb, who had just come home from a graveyard shift, decided to do something about the lot. He took his equipment to the weed patch and spent the better part of the day in cleaning it up. "Torrance ought to have a cleanup, fixup and paint up campaign," said Robb.
 "You know something," Robb added, "the city won't even pick up that pile in the alley. I'll have to put it back on the lot and burn it."
 Robb said that he would be interested in a full time business of cleaning up messy lots. He didn't get paid for this job, but he hopes he will be more fortunate in the future.
 The condition of the lot—almost in the center of the town—came to the attention of the Press—when Orson Brehman, a local realtor living at 1418 Post, complained to this newspaper.
 A check on the city ordinance governing weeds showed that it was too weak to be effective.
 "I don't understand it," said Brehman. "We even posted 'for sale' signs on our home—not because we didn't like Torrance, we were ashamed of that unsightly lot."

Torrance Kids Lead Police on 80-MPH Chase

A Compton court will decide the fate of two Torrance minors who led officers on an 80-mile chase, a week ago Sunday, according to Police records. They will appear before Judge Leonard Kaufman in Dept. 1 of the Municipal Court, tomorrow.
 During the chase, officers fired six shots at the fleeing vehicle before stopping it on Alameda, halfway between Dominguez Junction and Del Amo St.
 The minor driver is charged with passing two boulevards stops, reckless driving, failure to heed the officers' red lights and siren, crossing the double line, doing 80 miles an hour in a 25 zone and 80 in a 35 zone.
 The other minor who went along for the joy-ride is charged with tossing 15 beer bottles into the path of the pursuing patrol car in a vain effort to halt it.
 The officers said that they started after the car when they noticed at the intersection of Almond and Acacia streets that the auto was being driven in a suspicious manner.
 The suspects' car turned south on Alameda after the officers tried in vain to stop it at Palmer and Acacia. A second Compton police car and two from the Highway Patrol were dispatched to aid in intercepting the speedsters, in answer to a call for assistance.
 As the car sped along, the two officers fired two shots over the car and then started aiming at the rear tires.
 A check on the city ordinance governing weeds showed that it was too weak to be effective.
 "I don't understand it," said Brehman. "We even posted 'for sale' signs on our home—not because we didn't like Torrance, we were ashamed of that unsightly lot."

DAV Collects Funds Nov. 7-10

Yesterday, today, tomorrow, and Saturday have been proclaimed "For-Get-Me-Not" Day in Torrance by government officials, it was disclosed.
 It is in honor of the days chosen by the Disabled American Veterans, South Bay Chapter No. 92.
 The DAV collects funds in Torrance on these days that are used to help disabled veterans and their dependents in this area.

Church Speaker

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 Evangelist Hooper White will be the guest speaker in the Torrance Foursquare Church at 1207 El Prado; Rev. White has many friends in Torrance, having conducted revival services in the Foursquare church. More recently he has been pastor of the Santa Paula Foursquare church.
 Ruel H. Moulton, Ruel's Texaco Station, 23555 South Western.
 It was also disclosed that anyone who brings two new members into the club during Paul Diamond's term of office will be awarded a Key Pin.

Breakfast

Over the weekend, the Lomita Kiwanis Club entertained more than 2000 members of the community at a Boy Scout benefit pancake breakfast, it was disclosed today.
 Proceeds from the event will be issued to support Scout activities in the Lomita area during the coming year, it was reported.

Three Members

Paul Diamond, President of the Lion's Club, announced that three new members were welcomed into the club this week.
 They are Charles Reed, owner-manager of the Torrance Tee Yee, 1629 Cravens; Mott C. Farrell, manager of the Public Loan Corporation, 1623 Cravens; and
