Thespians Set For Friday Night of 1-Acts

The curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night when the National Thespian Society Troup 1133 presents three original one acts, written, directed and acted by students.

This is the first event of this kind in Torrance. The idea behind the occasion is to really have a "student show" where the students are given a chance to show their talents, not only in acting and directing, but writing as well.

A large number of plays were submitted, of which three were chosen to be presented. They are "Little Innocent," written by Sandra Pestoff; "My Innocent Darling," by Jo Ann Benard and Jeanette Lopez, and "Romeo and Juliet," by Leo Meltved and Ted Lloyd. These winners will be presented trophies by Rosemary De Camp Shidder, who donated the prizes.

Production staff includes Thespian President and Vice President, Jim Crain, and Dwight Hanna, production manager; Jo Ann Benard, business manager; Bob Hubbard, technical director; Hilma Jalo, set designer; Diana Davis, make-up chairman; Edgar Forcier, house chairman; Ann Flanagan and Sylvia Harper, programs, and Marian McDonald and Jeanette Lopez, publicity.

Cast for "Little Innocent" includes Mickey VanDeventer, Jane Moffat, Diana Davis, Charlie Babbit, Dan Rohrdanz, Orlando Mattie, and Dwight Hanna. Sandra is directing her own play. Using the melodramatic gestures for "My Innocent Darling" are Ann Flanagan, Janet Williamson, Ann Stephens, Jim
