

COAST TO COAST—Refused a try at movie stardom, native San Diegoan Mary Sinclair headed for New York where she became known as the nation's most beautiful television actress. That's right; now she's in Hollywood with a long-term contract.

POOR MAN'S MAN—Clutching a squealing piglet, 39-year-old Henry Krajewski gets set to throw his hat into the political ring as presidential candidate on his own "Poor Man's Party" ticket. Said the Secaucus, N. J., hog raiser, "Candidates got to be a little different."

Zipper Sewing Easy When Using Cellophane Tape

BY EDNA MILES
INSERTING a zipper in a dress or skirt often can be a bugaboo even for women experienced at home sewing. It takes time, doesn't always come out smooth, sometimes means a stretched seam.
 That's why a new and sure method of putting in a zipper is such welcome news. It requires only the use of cellophane tape and it's this use that eliminates pinning, basting, ripping—and all the accompanying guesswork.
 There's little or no handling of the fabric. This means that seams won't stretch and that you won't pull the zipper tape out of shape. Nor is there a need for pins. When the zipper is in, it's there to stay. It won't buckle, pucker or pull the seam.

We've chosen to show a slot seam, which is right for sleeves or the back opening of a dress. But exactly the same principle applies to the lapped seam type of placket used in either dress or skirt.

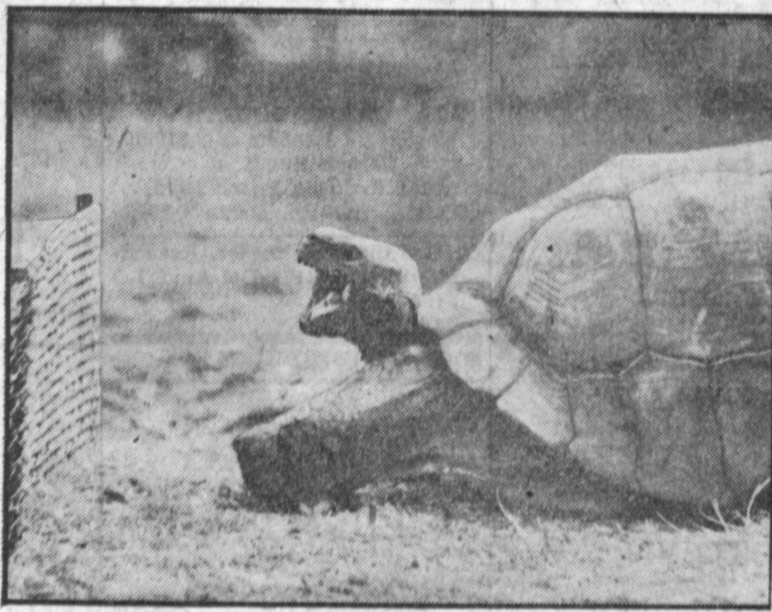

Sew the seam up to the point where the zipper opens. Then press entire seam into place. Now run strip of cellophane tape along entire outside length of opening so that fabric edges will be just touching.

Turn the material and place zipper along the seam on the wrong side of the garment. Use strips of tape crosswise to hold zipper next to the seam. This holds the zipper firmly in place while you sew on the machine.

Now for the actual sewing. Stitch it on either side of the garment except if you have a chain-stitch machine. Run the stitching down one side, across and up the other side. Finally, remove tape and press garment.

THE PEARLIES ARE COMIN'—Resplendent in their pearl button-covered duds, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Matthews watch as a London bus is unloaded in New York. Leaders of London costumongers, the Matthews will take part in a good-will tour of the United States during which three of the double-deckers will cover 8000 miles.

I WILL NOT SHUT UP—Releasing a flow of choice turtle-talk, old shell back of the London zoo lets the keeper know that he's not a bit pleased with that foot-high fence around his dwelling.

CANCER ARTILLERY—Looking through a plate glass water tank, two feet thick, we see a nurse, acting as a model, lying beneath the nation's largest radium therapy unit. The huge device, which contains one-fortieth of the world's supply of radium, is used at New York's Roosevelt Hospital primarily for the treatment of cancer.

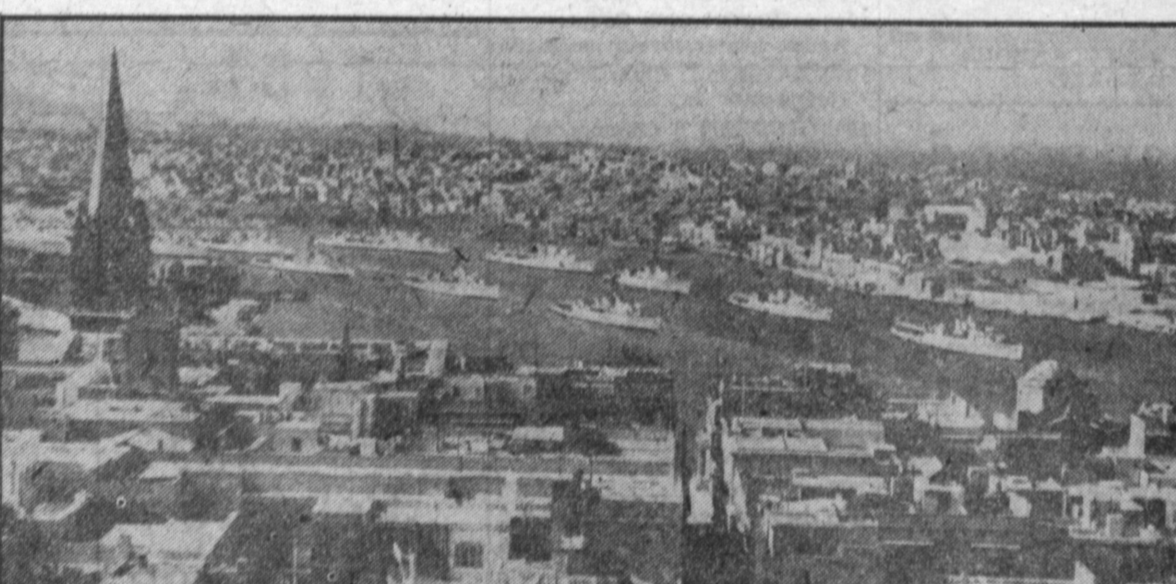

STUMPING IN MEXICO—While we north-of-the-borderites lend our attention to the presidential campaigning, Mexicans too are playing the same game. During a rally, above, for presidential candidate, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, banners and posters cover a hotel front in Acapulco. Elections are scheduled for July.

EAR'S HOW—By using an oximeter, which shines a light through the subject's ear, the Navy can determine the amount of oxygen in a jet pilot's bloodstream. This device aided in the development of survival equipment for Navy airmen who fly in the rarified air and sub-zero temperatures of high altitudes.

POODLE USES NOODLE—Tired of hearing all the remarks passed about poodle haircuts, actress Colleen Miller's pooch, Pietro, decided that earmuffs were fit for a dog such as he. Colleen joined him, wearing exact-duplicates with propellers.

SEA POWER AT MALTA—Anchored in Sliema Creek, destroyers and frigates of the British Home and Mediterranean fleets make an imposing picture against the background of the Malta waterfront. Commanded by Adm. Sir George Creasy, the fleet is carrying out spring exercises.

STRICTLY FRESH

A BRITISH shop owner's wife complained until he removed microphones outside his store which were picking up romancers' conversations at night. No doubt she couldn't hear them clearly enough.

A bar of soap was one of the few clues police had to work on

In a $2,400,000 burglary in Reno, Nev. But perhaps enough to make the culprits come clean.

Auditors have uncovered widespread corruption in the Japanese government. It's plain that the Americanization of Japan has been achieved.

With Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson being mentioned as a likely candidate, singing Democrats will switch from "I'm Just Wild About Harry" to "Sweet Adlai-line."
