LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
Flower, Art and Hobby Show Workers Thanked

Editor,
 Torrance Press
 Many hundreds of persons visited and enjoyed the Fourth Annual Flower, Art and Hobby Show staged at the Civic Auditorium on June 3rd and 4th this year. A tremendous amount of preparation, beginning very early in the year, was required to present this event, and credit for its success goes to many organizations and individuals.
 The sponsoring committees wish to extend their appreciation and gratitude to the following groups for their help: the Torrance Recreation Commission; Police Department TAPS; all the various exhibitors and committees; the Chamber of Commerce, and the newspapers in this area.
 We look forward to next year's show, knowing that we will receive the same enthusiastic support of the community.
 Yours truly,
 MRS. MINOT RUGG, Chairman of the Flower Arrangements, and
 MRS. LEO MEMILLEN, Chairman of the Art and Hobby Exhibits.

Congressional Nominee Lauds Fair Play in News Coverage

Editor,
 Torrance Press:
 Will you kindly accept my expression of keen appreciation for the splendid space considerations and the extreme fairness extended me in news treatment in your publication during the recent primary election campaign. The fact that you refused to be swayed by the smear tactics employed by other candidates had a distinct bearing on the outcome of the election.
 I also wish to express my deepest appreciation to the thousands of voters and workers who made my nomination in the Republican primary possible. Without a question of a doubt the credit for this win must go to the tireless efforts of these workers who, toiling against the greatest of odds, achieved a victory that has been classed as the political upset of the year in California. My thanks to the many citizens who opened their homes for our neighborhood meetings. Their help was a big factor in this victory.
 I pledge myself to a clean, fighting campaign based solely on the issues and the record in the forthcoming general election.
 Very sincerely yours,
 ROBERT H. FINCH.

Serve These Individual Pot Roasts

Individual pot-roasts — you can prepare them by using cross-cut beef shanks made by cutting across the small meaty portion of the beef shank.

Cook the cross-cut shanks the same as any other pot-roast, says Reba Staggs, meat cookery expert. First, brown the meat in a small amount of lard or drippings. When thoroughly browned, add from 1/4 to 1/2 cup of water, cover the utensil tightly and let the meat cook until it becomes tender, about 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

Add vegetables, left whole or cut in large pieces, to the cooking utensil in time so they will be cooked when the meat is done. Along with the old standbys — carrots, onions and potatoes — add parsnips, Brussels sprouts and turnips. Cook separately and serve green beans, peas or green limas with the pot-roasts.

For a decided change, serve these braised cross-cut shanks in a vegetable gravy. Add green peas, onion slices and diced carrots to the cooking utensil. When the shanks are cooked, remove them from the pan, then thicken the liquid for your vegetable gravy.

Cross-cut shanks may be barbecued for another tempting braised dish. In barbecuing, follow the same cookery steps as for a pot-roast — brown, then add barbecue sauce, cover and cook until tender.

Giles Stadler Owns Storage and Van Business Here

Six months ago Giles Stadler became the owner and operator of the Torrance Van and Storage Company on Border Avenue. A former employee of his father's S and M Transfer Company in Redondo Beach, the new Torrance businessman stated that he is very proud to join the ever growing family of businesses in this community.

Stadler was first introduced to the storage and moving business when his father opened his first warehouse in 1918. Since that time, it has become something of a family tradition, Stadler declared.

Torrance Van and Storage operates the only local agency for Mayflower Movers.

Stadler and his wife, who reside in Manhattan Beach, have four sons, Gerald, 15, a student of Serra High School; David, 9, enrolled at the American Martyrs School; Christopher, 4, and James, 4 months.

Have you tried the wonderful No-wate Way to cook fresh vegetables? Allow one tablespoon margarine per serving and place in bottom of saucepan, top with prepared vegetable, season. Place wet lettuce leaves over vegetables; cover and cook over low heat till done, about same time as boiling water method. Vegetables are delicious, nutritious and so beautiful cooked this way.

Adult Education Service Expands Summer Schedule

Technically school's out, but the Torrance Adult Education Service doesn't think so, and will go right on merrily carrying the books throughout the summer. A new, enlarged selection of summer session courses was announced this week by adult education officials.

The classes, many meeting five days a week, are held in the Torrance High School and elementary school in Torrance. The courses are free, and are open to any adult regardless of residence.

Children of all ages may, too, take advantage of the courses in the new expanded program, the school said. The classes begin on June 23 and end July 31. Registration is made at the high school at the first scheduled meeting of each course. Further information may be obtained by calling the school at Torrance 1518.

Eggplant, shiny and purple-clad, is so appetizing prepared this way: Wash and slice, through skin too, about 1/2 inch thick. Spread with real mayonnaise, salt and pepper and broil about five minutes. Turn and repeat mayonnaise and seasonings and broil about five more minutes.
