New Playclothes Are Sturdy and Fashionable

BY EDNA MILES

THE playclothes in your summer wardrobe should be able to take it. They should, that is, be in a fabric sturdy enough to stand up to really hard wear, to go through countless launderings and come out looking trim as a top-sail.

They should also be in a fabric that's sanforized so that it won't shrink into something fit only for a midget.

Once these basic requirements are well in mind, look for playclothes that provide the most fashion for your money with the maximum in comfort and freedom-of-action. You'll find many such clothes this year; designers have gone all-out to do sun fashions that are different, that are flattering, that hide figure defects.

The skort, for instance, is a newcomer under the sun. Sure fire for girls who want to slim the hipline, it's really a part-skirt that buttons across each hip, revealing shorts front and back only. Further, the skort opens up flat for easy washing and ironing. In sanforized blusurf denim, worn with matching, tailored bra, this is a fashion that can take it all summer long.

The pop-over shirt, cut the length of a man's shirt, and given tapered sleeves, is another sun fashion that's sturdy when it's done in express stripes. Given a V-shaped turtle-neck yoke and worn with tapered pedal pushers, it has a smart silhouette.

← Pop-over shirt in express stripes has a V-shaped turtle-neck yoke. Shirt is worn with tapered pedal pushers for smart overall line.

→ This denim skort, a combination skirt-and-short, minimizes hiplines. Part-skirt buttons across each hip, revealing shorts front and back only.

THREADS HER WAY THROUGH CONSTITUTION—Ann Nech, seated, will have used more than 124,000 yards of thread and put in 200 hours of labor when she finishes sewing the more than 10,000 words of the Constitution. Model Anne Manco, 20, of Rome, Italy, watches the demonstration of sewing-machine skill at an Italian manufacturers' fair held at Grand Central Palace, New York.

WON'T WEST POINTERS LOVE THEM!

Blonde Lori Nelson and brunette Alice Kelley are the contrasting pair chosen by Universal-International Studios to add beauty, glamour and romance to the new Donald O'Connor-talking mule comedy, "Francis Goes to West Point." Won't the cadets snap to attention when they see this pair on the screen!

ON THE SPRINGBOARD TO FAME

Herewith a Hollywood version of three graces taking the springboard to fame via Universal-International films. Left to right—Kathleen Hughes, who will bow for U-I in "Sally and St. Anne," the Ann Blyth-Edmund Gwenn comedy; Lori Nelson, now on the screen in "Ma and Pa Kettle at the Fair"; and Suzan Ball who will be introduced in the Technicolor "Untamed Frontier," starring Joseph Cotton, Shelley Winters and Scott Brady. Water's fine, they say.
