ANCIENT "NICKEL"
The composition of certain coins issued over 2000 years ago by the Bactrians, an ancient Asiatic people, is strikingly similar to the present United States five cent piece. The Bactrian coins, when analyzed, were found to contain 75% copper and 25% nickel, the same as the U. S. "nickel".

Red Feather agencies provided care for 16,591 dependent children last year. Why not offer to help these children by volunteering to work in this year's Community Chest campaign.
