HOME IMPROVEMENT Thoughtful Survey Suggests Means

In almost every house there are some features which the owner would like to change. But since walls and windows and dimensions are rigid facts, the owner must depend upon those movable things . . . furniture, ornaments, and draperies, along with pattern and color, to create apparent changes which will make his house more to his liking.

Give Your Child An Allowance

Making and following a plan for giving a child money will bring better results than hit-or-miss hand-outs. An allowance that grows as the child's needs grow is one device. Beginning with the very small amounts a 6 or 7-year-old child needs, it can be increased with the child's growing ability to make independent decisions. By the middle teens many children under such an arrangement are buying many of their own clothes. Needless to say, such practice keeps a child down to earth, and gives him a real understanding of the need for sensible planning.

Too often parents give an allowance and then dictate how a child shall spend it. Actually, such dictation defeats their purpose. If a child is told he must save 3 cents out of every dime, or that he can spend only 5 cents a week on candy, he has no chance to use his own judgment. If we direct every bit of his spending, it remains our money, in which case there's little point in calling it his allowance.

Talking over with him questions that come up is another matter. We can point out that if he saves a little of each week's dime or quarter he can buy something he really wants at the end of the month. We can remind him that when he's invited to other children's parties, he'll want to be able to give them birthday presents. Our children nowadays are so well aware of the plight of children in other parts of the world that giving out of one's funds has become very much a part of their thinking. When it involves self-denial it will have more meaning than when it's just a matter of handing over the money for which they asked their father.

These are economies to be considered seriously, and in so doing you may discover hidden talents in home beautifying.

Cook Beef Filet Quickly

Beef fillet is the whole tenderloin, larded and cooked whole; it is then sliced and served from the platter with a rich sauce, usually of mushrooms. Also serve white or sweet potatoes in any fancy way, or new boiled potatoes with butter and parsley. Hominy or rice may be served instead of potatoes; also serve peas or egg-plant, Brussels sprouts, tomatoes baked, sautéed, or broiled, green corn or cauliflower in green peppers, and currant jelly or any sweet-fruit pickle. The meat may be garnished with baked bananas or triangles of puff paste or mushrooms broiled, and a horseradish sauce is also a good accompaniment. As the meat, although very tender, has but little flavor, it should be cooked quickly in a hot oven. Cover the bottom of a dripping pan with 4 slices of salt pork, upon which put a layer of diced onion, carrot, and celery. Lay on this a well-larded fillet, put it in a hot oven for 15 minutes, pour over 1 tablespoon of brandy, dust with salt and pepper, and bake 15 or 20 minutes longer, according to size of fillet. Baste often and serve on hot platter, cut in slices, keeping them together as much as possible. Add a little flour to the pan, then 1 cup cream, and when boiling strain into sauce boat and add 1 cup of fresh mushrooms sautéed in butter. Garnish the platter with peas, beans, cauliflower, asparagus tips, or canned asparagus and potato balls browned in butter. These should be arranged around the meat, having more cauliflower than anything else, and at one end of the platter.

Serve Pears With Chocolate Mousse

For a dessert all members of the family will enjoy, why not serve chocolate mousse surrounded by pear halves? A recipe follows:

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- Dash salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 pint whipping cream
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can pear halves

Soak gelatin in water for 5 minutes. Combine sugar, chocolate and milk; heat over boiling water until chocolate is melted. Add the gelatin and beat with rotary beater until dissolved. Add vanilla, salt and cinnamon. Chill until slightly thickened and whip until fluffy. Fold in whipped cream. Put in a mold and chill until firm. Unmold on serving dish and surround with chilled pear halves. Six servings.
