

FIRE

as the gas ignited and the flames leaped skyward at about 11 a.m.

It took four hours until the four shut off valves could be located and turned off. Until that time, the fire raged full force. Nearby homes, utility poles, and a cafe were wetted down to protect them against the intense heat which kept firemen about 200 feet away from the fire-source.

D. W. Barkley, job superintendent, said that the machinery caught in the fire represented a loss of $50,000.

Six Engines

Six fire-engines responded to the call: one from North Torrance, three from Redondo Beach, and two from the county of Los Angeles.

One Redondo fireman, Engineer Gilbert Thorns, was overcome by heat prostration and rushed to Harbor General hospital.

CRASH

plowing into the Bolner car which was going south on Normandie.

Charles Bolner, the woman's husband and driver of the car, is in fair condition at Harbor General hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Sailor Fernandez Ruybal, who rode in the Farris car, suffered a lacerated face and hip. His condition is said to be good.

Farris, together with two other sailors, are said to have escaped with minor injuries. The others are Robert Crane, 22, and Ronald Hilton, 20. All sailors are attached to the U.S.S. Higbee.

Two Torrance students attending El Camino College have their works featured in the new campus magazine, "Whoopla," published February 4. Stories published include "The Man on the Highway," a mystery thriller by Don Mirk and "Song of the Last Man" and "Come Down from the Trees" by Carl Larsen.
