

REZONING

Commercial Trend
Don Armstrong, attorney for the property owners, argued before the Planning Commission that the commercial development of Torrance boulevard is inevitable. The few blocks in question, Armstrong stated, are flanked on either side by commercial zones. Good planning demands that the whole section be zoned uniformly to develop a well-balanced business area.

The planning president declared that there are already 32 commercial sites available along Torrance boulevard between Sartori and Crenshaw. He maintained that it is not necessary to create any additional commercial sites. The combination of stores and residences is undesirable, Smith stated.

In denying the petition of the property owners, the Commission went on record as favoring spot variances rather than consistent and complete rezoning.

part would be premature. I can assure all interested that the matter will have my sincerest consideration in the event of my election."

MRS. HERMA TILLIM: "To me the issue is not controversial. I would be for such an ordinance. I have a dog and ever since there have been vaccinations I have always had my dog vaccinated. Such an ordinance would save dogs and children. I wish it were a state ordinance."

JACK WHITE: "Any judgment would depend on what Los Angeles does. Surrounding cities would probably have to take similar measures if L. A. did it in order to have an effective preventive program. I'd want to protect the city against vaccination being made a racket, off-hand. I would like to Tolson, incumbent, and Edward Schwartz.

Two school board posts will be vacated. They are presently occupied by Tolson and Judge John Shidler, board president. Shidler is still "undecided" whether he will run again or not.

The last date to file for candidacy is April 21. Forms are available at the District Office, 2335 Plaza del Amo.

Absentee voters may apply for ballots between May 1 and May 15.

is Harold Phibbs, 31, of Burbank, a passenger in Williams' car. Evidently traveling at high speed, the car failed to negotiate a curve on the slippery street, police stated.

Williams is survived by his wife, Emma, and two children, aged 3 years and 8 months.

His body was removed to Stone and Myers after he was pronounced dead at Harbor General Hospital.
