

World Food Fiesta at Food Giant

There'll be fun, flags, free samples of foreign goods, music and a "world of food bargains" at the FOOD GIANT MARKET, 423 S. Hawthorne boulevard, Hawthorne, during the week-end, April 29 to May 2, according to Glenn Butler, manager.

The Food Giant, in conjunction with Pan American Airways is presenting a gala food event designed to focus attention on the international character of our daily meals. For the occasion Pan-American has made available its famous collection of travel posters from all over the world. According to a Pan-American spokesman this is one of the largest collections of travel posters ever assembled for display. The posters will be on display at the Food Giant from Thursday through Sunday. To add the native touch to the Food Fiesta, the Food Giant has engaged a Mexican orchestra to play Latin American melodies for the customers on Friday evening and Saturday.

According to Mr. Butler, costumed demonstrators will offer free samples of Chinese, Hawaiian, and Mexican foods during the Fiesta. A big map of the world is being set up to show where the world's most famous foods come from and United Nations flags will be used to decorate the market. The Food Fiesta and specials on foods will begin at the Food Giant on April 29th and continue through Sunday, April 2.
