WHAT'S DOING

R. S. Pyle, your Telephone Manager in Torrance

Where safety is always in style

The man inside the strange garments (at right) put them on to show you the wide variety of safety devices we use today. Of course, it isn't likely a telephone man will need all this equipment on any single job. But whatever the job, telephone men have the safety devices and techniques they need. Making safety our style pays off for you. For we think a job must be safe to be good. And only good jobs can hold the capable people needed to bring you more service, dependable service, at lowest possible cost. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Save time—look up numbers before you call

You know, telephone numbers have a way of getting twisted when you rely on memory alone. So, to make sure you get right numbers the first time you call, look in the telephone book for those you're doubtful about. And to help you keep handy the numbers you call most often, we'll be glad to send you a free booklet to list them in. Get your copy by calling, writing, or dropping in at our business office.

One minute after midnight Sunday will be an important anniversary in Torrance.

At 12:01 a.m. last May 31 the exchange was converted to dial operation. Manager Dick Pyle of Pacific Telephone recalled today.

What has happened in the year that has gone by? Manager Pyle said you're making more use of your telephones now. And you can dial direct to 250,000 more telephones than you could before... for a total of two million in the greater Los Angeles area.

The exchange now has 8,750 telephones, compared to 6,850 just before the cutover. The daily volume of calls placed by FAirfax subscribers averages nearly 39,000—in May 1953 it was 22,700.

The waiting list for new service in Torrance also has shown improvement. Before the dial conversion last year, there were 1,490 applicants waiting for telephones. Most of them received service within a month or two after the dial system went into operation. About 80 applicants are on the waiting list now, and they will receive service when new outside cable and wire additions are completed.
