

UNION, RETAIL DRUGGISTS SIGN TWO-YEAR CONTRACT

Cited as "an example of improved labor-management relations in the Harbor area" a two-year contract with the independent retail druggists was ratified by the Retail Clerks Local 905 last week.

The settlement was reached by a negotiating committee of the independent retail druggists and Harbor Area Employers Council with Union representatives. Employers' committee was composed of Frank S. Selover, A. J. Moe, David Kline, Ben Golub, and O. Paul Abram, while representing the union were International Vice-president A. V. Crossler, International Attorney William Irvin, and officers of Local 905, Ben Scott, Walt Scheppmann, and Ivan Morris.

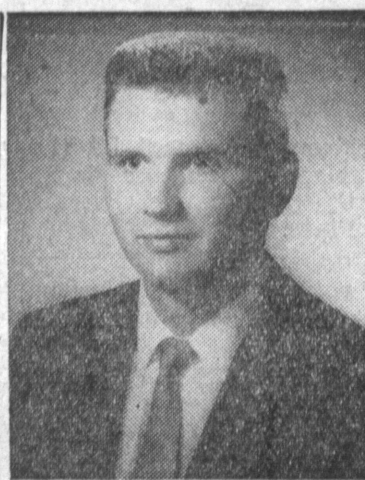

Principal Points Told

Principal points resolved in the agreement, which covers all Local 905 members employed in the Harbor Area until June 1, 1956, with a wage reopening on June 1, 1955, are the following:

1. Elimination of the two consecutive days off provision for seven-day operations. Premium pay Sundays was increased from 20 cents per hour to 35 cents, and additional premium was provided after 7 p.m. was provided, effective upon the signing of the contract, with the highest rate applying on Sunday nights.

2. As previously agreed, the drug stores will pay $1 per hour week increase in wages as of February 3, 1954, and $1 as of August 1.

Both Selover and Scott cited the good labor-management relations' aspect of the contract and said "it is hoped by all concerned that the agreement will aid in greater development of the Harbor area."

Local Group At Edison Co. Development

A group of Torrance civic leaders and city officials were invited to inspect the facilities of the Big Creek-San Joaquin River hydroelectric development of the Southern California Edison company last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Those attending the inspection tour were: George Stevens, city manager; James Hall, city attorney; Nick Draie, mayor; Willys Blount, Albert Isen, and Mervin Schwab, councilmen; Dick Felker, industrialist; Richard Pyle, local manager of the telephone company; K. Stuart Avera, local manager of the Southern California Edison company; Judge Otto Willett; Lew Jenkins, district manager of the Edison co.; King Williams, publisher of the Torrance Herald; and William R. Zappas, publisher of the Torrance Press.
