Wool Jersey Coordinates Combine Comfort With Chic

By Mary Barrett

For sheer comfort during fall's unpredictable weather, wool jersey is the answer . . . it is warm without bulk, and even though midday temperatures rise, it is not uncomfortable due to its fine knit texture and softness. It also presents no creasing problem, as it possesses a great faculty for "bouncing back."

This season the manufacturers are featuring some delightfully styled jersey dresses, jumpers, jacket and dress ensembles, and middie-tops to be worn over skirts, and jumpers for the smart new pull-down style.

Important Jersey Blouses

Wool jersey blouses are practically a must to go with the new burry tweeds and versatile flannel and corduroy suits, jumpers, and skirts. As sweaters will still be a little too warm, especially for under the suit, the lightweight wool jersey blouses are just the thing . . . for instance, a go-with-everything white bateau neck version with cap sleeves to look smart at midday when you feel you must shed your jacket. A mandarin collar with dolman sleeves is another popular version.

Although there is some controversy as to the heat-attracting quality of black, I believe it draws the heat! It is always smart if you have the complexion to wear it straight next to your face, and it is a nice compliment to the popular reds, greys and sepia this season.

Brown is a love of quite a few of us, and brown, from seal to cocoa will be terrific when worn as a blouse with the delicious new spice colors . . . the fabulous camel-toned skirts . . . the herbal greens . . . turquoise . . . purple . . . and the lovely new orange colors.

More Color Mixtures

Other exciting color combos are olive green sparked with sulphur yellow . . . emerald green with the new warm blues . . . amber or biege with the vineyard or red and purple.

Navy is always a good safe bet for smartness and coordination. You'd be surprised how well it teams up with many of the new bright shades. It will be especially smart for the high school and college set with their new plaid tartans.

New Tweed Jerseys

As you review the possibilities offered by the foregoing color combinations with an eye toward mixing and matching, and choosing the colors that go well with your particular complexion, we'll mention another exciting innovation on the jersey ticket this year, and that's TWEED jersey. This material is woven to look like the speckled tweed, as well as stripes and herringbone weaves.

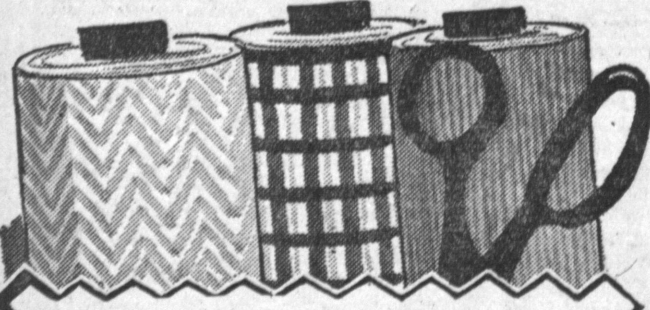

Many new dress and jacket ensembles combine a plain color wool jersey dress with the tweed jersey jacket of a matching and contrasting combination weave. You could pick up one of the colors in the jacket for a corduroy skirt . . . another for a wool jersey blouse and . . . voila! you have another outfit.
