Four Torrance Residents Serve On El Camino Paper
Serving on the staff of the El Camino college, Warwhoop for the fall semester will be four residents of Torrance, Dave Parton, commissioner of publications and editor of the weekly newspaper, announced today.

Richard Gatley, a Canadian-born emigrant from Toronto, and a graduate of Torrance high school, will be a member of the feature staff. Utilizing his talents at cartooning Gatley has already designed a figure to be used in conjunction with the newspaper's new "Night Owl" column. His previous journalism experience includes staff work on the local News Torch.

Another member of the staff from Torrance will be Henry Carreiro, a journalism major. A native of Massachusetts, Carreiro, enrolled in El Camino last summer after his discharge from the Navy. He will serve on the staff as a sports reporter.

Carl Larsen, of 1211 El Prado, will write the weekly column "Petty Larceny," which he initiated with the Warwhoop last year. A graduate of Torrance high school, Larsen served the newspaper staff as feature editor.
